U.S. Will Ignore De Valera

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, WEDNESDAY, JAN. 26, 1942

Washington

Jan. 28 (INS)

By KINGSBURY SMITH

International News Service Staff Correspondent

The United States government today planned to ignore Prime Minister Eamon de Valera's public protest over the landing of American troops in northern Ireland.

The State Department fully shared President Roosevelt's expressed reluctance to be drawn into any row with the Irish at present, especially over Eire's political squabbles with Great Britain.

Privately, American officials think the people of Eire have no reason to feel concerned about the presence of American doughboys in northern Ireland.

Responsible quarters pointed out there is much less danger of American troops crossing the border into southern Ireland than of British troops doing so.

INFLUENCE FOR PEACE

The only circumstance in which American troops would cross the Ulster borders into Eire, it was said, would be if Germany should attempt an invasion of southern Ireland.

Presence of American troops in northern Ireland also was seen as likely to contribute toward the maintenance of peace between Eire and Ulster, at least for the duration of the war. As long as American troops are stationed in northern Ireland, it is thought there will be less danger of extremist action on either side leading to civil war.

The American government's attitude toward Eire is that Prime Minister De Valera should call a truce in his row with Great Britain over the question of partition until the United Nations have put an end to the Axis.

HOPE MATTER DROPPED

American officials hope De Valera's protest was intended chiefly for the record, and that he will not pursue the matter further.

Eire, however, is known to fear

200 LOST IN NEW SHIP SINKING

San Juan, P. R.

Jan. 28, (INS)

The steamship Coamo of the New York and Puerto Rico passenger line arrived in San Juan harbor today with 71 survivors of an unidentified vessel torpedoed and sunk in the Atlantic with 321 persons aboard.

This ship was believed to be British or Canadian. It was feared that 200 lives were lost.

The Coamo, long overdue, picked up the survivors Friday night after they had been five days at sea in an open lifeboat. Seventy-six were picked up to begin with, but five died aboard the Coamo before she reached San Juan.

TORPEDOED TWICE

The survivors told a dramatic story of how their ship had been torpedoed twice. The first explosion blew up the bridge and knocked down the mast, while the second struck the engine room and blasted two of the lifeboats aboard.

Among the missing is Capt. H. O. Griffen, skipper of the unidentified vessel.

Chief Officer Percy A. Kelly of Halifax, N. S., said:

"I think that two other lifeboats bled our got away safely and those aboard rescued."

"Our ship sank 25 minutes after being hit the first time. She finally heeled over and went down. I am afraid that 200 were swept to death when the first torpedo hit."

22 CREW SURVIVORS

The full list of survivors is awaiting clearance by the United States Navy. Kelly said that among them was a "very brave little girl" of 2½ years and was with her mother and father on the vessel.

Twenty-two of the survivors were members of the crew and the balance Royal British Marines and

LAST-INCH CRY HINTS FALL OF SINGAPORE

Singapore

Jan. 28 (AP)

OFFICIAL NEWS

By C. YATES McDANIEL

Suburban Singapore underwent another bombing today when 27 Japanese planes swiftly looted their cargoes, then veered into the clouds.

Meanwhile, as the fighting lines 50 miles above Johore Straits swayed ever closer to this city, Prime Minister Churchill's declaration in London yesterday that Imperial forces would fight to the last inch in Malaya, but that more bad news may be in the offing, stirred mixed feelings here.

Military observers and the polyglot population of Singapore could not help but recall that similar pledges of the last-ditch fights preceded the loss of Norway, Greece and Crete.

Nevertheless they welcomed the prime minister's disclosure that considerable reinforcements had reached Malaya.

Although Churchill's determination is shared by the people of Singapore Island, they cannot forget that the "last inch" of the mainland is separated from this stronghold by only half a mile of water at the narrowest part.

And, like Hongkong, Singapore big guns are turned the other way toward the sea.

The heaviest fighting was under way on the west coast of the narrow peninsula, where the Japanese Imperial guards sought to crack

ON, RETAKE 79 MORE TOWNS

Moscow

Jan. 28 (AP)

OFFICIAL NEWS

By EDDY GILMORE

The recapture of 79 more towns was reported today in dispatches from the Russian front which said the Red army was smashing forward northwest and southwest of Moscow at the threshold of a double defense line to which the Germans were retreating.

(On the basis of previous information on the Soviet forward positions, that Nazi line apparently extends from near Velikie Luki to the Vyazma region, thence to near Bryansk—and already is threatened seriously at both flanks.)

Soviet reports indicated that the German defense system, rushed toward completion, consists of two lines of defense works one about a mile and a half behind the other.

Despite a stiffening of the German resistance, progress was reported for the Soviet divide-and-conquer campaign.

Russian cavalry on the southwestern front recaptured nine strongly held towns and left 900 dead on a single battlefield, dispatches from that sector said.

The Red army also was said to be continuing mile after mile in its power drive west along the Rzhev rail line toward Velikie Luki, 80 miles from the Latvian frontier.

OFFICIAL NEWS

Huge American four-motor bombers sank another big Japanese transport yesterday in the Strait of Macassar, set a second transport afire, splashed bombs around a cruiser and out-gunned Japanese fighter planes which tried to break up their attack, the United Nations command disclosed today.

Thus the toll in the first five days of the battle for the key sea lane between Borneo and Celebes was boosted to at least 19 troops and supply laden ships sunk or badly damaged, and at least 11 Japanese warships sent to the bottom or badly smashed.

(Washington announcements gave an even higher toll for the five-day operations, and, not counting the two additional transports, listed losses of 34 Japanese ships—11 known sinkings, six probable sinkings, and 17 damaged.)

JAP PLANES DOWNED

The fighting power of the big American planes was stressed in the United Nations headquarters communique which said "Japanese fighter aircraft which attempted to intercept our bombers were roughly handled."

"Two were shot down," the communique reported, "and one was damaged."

All the American planes returned to base safely.

(The Washington communique, however, reports one of the flying fortresses as lost.)

Whether the Japanese cruiser was damaged—or to what extent—was not specified. The communique said only that the cruiser "was closely straddled with several sticks of bombs."

Japanese bombers made a heavy raid today on Emmanhaven, on the west coast of Sumatra, setting fire to two ships and damaging a third, it was announced today.

Some casualties were announced as a result of a new attack in the region of Ambon, on Ambon Island and between the Celebes and New Guinea.

JAPS CONTINUE BOMBING

"There has been no decrease in enemy air activity," the Netherlands Indies command said. "Bombs were dropped on several unidentified places, causing little material damage. Here and there in the southeast of Borneo bombs were dropped and machine-gunning took place."

M'ARTHUR WIPES OUT 2 JAP LANDINGS BEHIND U. S. LINE

With U. S. Forces on Batan Peninsula

Jan. 25 (Delayed) (INS)

By CURTIS HINDSON

International News Service Staff Correspondent

Japanese infiltration tactics, which have served them so well in the battle of Malaya, have failed completely against Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces fighting desperately on Batan peninsula.

During the past two nights the enemy attempted to land forces on the shores behind the main front. Small forces did get ashore but before they could carry out their plan to drift inland to harass rear lines and outflank the front line troops, they were engaged by the defending American and Filipino forces.

The men of the beach defenses killed most of the Japanese parties. The few who escaped into the forests inland were hotly pursued and are being rounded up. They have been too busy saving their own skins to cause any trouble.

In the main battle at the front the American-Filipino troops continue their heroic fight against continually increasing odds. Despite Japanese superiority in numbers, the Japanese have not succeeded in making much headway.

But the Japanese land reinforcements almost daily, and the pressure is never long relaxed. Only the most superb defense could hold them in check.

Fuehrer Picks Sabbath for War Coups to Desecrate Holy Day

By FRAU ELISABETH MEYER

UNDER a sign and a symbol which is a cross, but not the cross of Christ, Adolf Hitler has launched his holocaust of death against German Christians.

The sign is the swastika, and it is a symbol of the Aryan sun-god and the worship accorded to this god from the days of the ancient Persians.

The Fuehrer is worshipped, literally, as a sun-god by the Nazi youth of Germany. To him these young people pray as to the source and giver of life.

But Hitler gives death, not life.

Fanatical in his conviction that he is the sun-god, Hitler has chosen as his "day of destiny" the "day of the sun"—Sunday.

Deliberately, he desecrates Sunday.

It is on Sunday when he launches his most spectacular ventures of aggression against the world and against mankind. It is on Sunday when his Axis servants, by his command, follow his example. That significant record may have escaped you.

It was on Sunday, Sept. 3, 1939, when the Nazis sank the unarmed British liner Athenia, with tragic loss of the lives of helpless women and children. It was on this same fateful day, within 48 hours of Hitler's invasion of Poland, when England and France declared war upon Germany.

On Sunday, April 28, 1940, Hitler's air force levelled the little town of Namsos in Norway, driving out the British landing troops and sinking British ships. It marked the first military victory in Norway, and led to the ultimate occupation and enslavement of the Quisling-ridden land.

On Sunday, May 12, 1940, two days after the invasion without warning of Belgium, Holland and Luxemburg, Hitler hurled his legions across the Albert Canal in Belgium, and captured Liege. From the air on that serene spring Sunday, his planes machine-gunned the helpless civilians fleeing in terror from their shattered homes. It was estimated that on that Sunday there were 50 churches destroyed.

On Sunday, May 26, 1940, Hitler's armies penetrated through France to the Channel coast, occupying Boulogne and Calais. The first German coastal gun thundered its message of death across the Channel to Dover.

On Sunday, June 24, 1940, Adolf Hitler returned in triumph to Berlin from the signing of the armistice with France in Compiegne Forest. He ordered that German flags fly for 10 days and that German bells ring for seven days in celebration of "the most glorious victory of all times."

There came a Sunday on Aug. 25, 1940, when Hitler, from his bomb shelter in the Chancellery at Berlin, heard the hum of enemy planes and the thud of enemy bombs. It was the first British raid on Berlin—on the city which Field Marshal Hermann Goering had promised never would be raided.

On the same day Hitler sent his Luftwaffe across the channel to bomb London, and to destroy, not military objectives, but six historic churches, including St. Giles Church, where the poet John Milton was buried.

It was on the following Sun-

ALL GOODS AT RETAIL SUBJECT TO RATIONING AND PRICE-FIXING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP)—Everything that Americans buy at the stores becomes liable to rationing today, and legal price fixing was only one short step away.

The war production board delegated to Acting Price Administrator Leon Henderson full power to ration retail commodities, only a short time before the Senate completed congressional action yesterday on a much-amended price control bill and sent it on to President Roosevelt.

Democratic leaders said they expected the Chief Executive to sign the measure, although some of its farm price sections were known to be distasteful to him. He had asked for the legislation more than six months ago, as a check against inflation.

Living costs have risen more than 11 per cent since September, 1939, government economists say, and parallel price rises have added several billion dollars to the cost of the nation's armament program.

HENDERSON A BY-WORD

The capital generally conceded that Henderson would be retained in the price administration post he now holds by virtue of an executive order. The added rationing authority, given him with Mr. Roosevelt's approval virtually guaranteed that the name of Henderson in the next few weeks would become a by-word in the kitchens, corner stores and offices of America.

Further rationing, the WPB board observed, "seems inevitable."

Relying almost entirely up to now on voluntary arrangements and orders without the specific support of law, the OPA has fixed price ceilings on 72 commodities ranging from washed cattle-tail hair to steel.

In addition, it has reached voluntary price agreements with

4 COUPLE FIGHT MOTHER FOR BABY IN BELMONT

Legal storm clouds gathered today over the blonde head of little five-year-old Celina Elizabeth Barrett of Belmont as her mother prepared to fight the petition of Mr. and Mrs. John Pride of Center ave., Belmont, to adopt the child.

Mrs. Pride stated in her petition, filed in Middlesex probate court, that Celina—or "Betty," as she is known by her neighborhood playmates—was left in her care by her parents, John and Elizabeth Barrett, when the baby was only two weeks old.

"My husband and I love her dearly and she calls us 'Mummy' and 'Poppy.' We want her now to be brought up as our own child," Mrs. Pride said.

If they are granted permission to adopt the little girl, the Prides say they will change her name to Elizabeth Ann and drop the Celina part.

However, her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Barrett of Boston ave., Somerville, already has filed legal appearance in Middlesex court to oppose the couple's petition. The question soon will be debated in the courtroom.

Gas flooded the numerous tunnels of the mine after the explosion last night, preventing rescue squads from immediately reaching into the deep level where the 34 men were at work. Although equipped with gas masks, the rescuers were forced to cut out the poisonous fumes as they moved through the shafts.

Hospitals to Open New Nurse Schools

Many Massachusetts hospitals soon will set up schools to train licensed attendants in an attempt to meet the growing need for nurses, it was disclosed today by Frederick Ayer of the Massachusetts committee on public safety.

In distributing minimum requirements for such schools, Ayer, who is also chairman of the Approving Authority for Schools for Nurses and Attendants, stressed the importance of training attendants in view of the large numbers of nurses going into the military services.

Under a state law passed last August, applicants would take a basic one-year course, followed by a two-months probationary period. They would then be entitled to use with their names the letters "L.A." for "licensed attendant" similar to the "R.N." for registered nurses.

Applicants interested in taking attendants' courses must be 18 years old or more with at least an eighth-grade education. Inquiries should be made at the Household Nursing Ass'n, 222 Newbury st., Back Bay.

CHARGE 2 WROTE GIRLS IN CODE

Secret codes and messengers were used by two Rhode Island men, workers at an Atlantic base, to evade censorship of their letters to two women, Naval authorities charged today.

Vincent J. Woodcock, 48, of Providence, was charged with using code in a letter to Dorothy E. Fur long of Narragansett, R. I. Wilfred R. Leube, 38, of 108 Hazard ave., Oakland Beach, R. I., attempted to evade censorship of his letter to Madeline Leube, also of Oakland Beach, the Navy charged.

Both men were held for arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Edward Donovan on the charges which are in violation of the first war powers act of 1941.

Officials did not reveal contents of the letters nor say whether military secrets were involved.

The pair were employees of a construction company at the base since August. They were brought to Boston on a naval vessel in cus-

Authorities claimed one of the men, not named, attempted to send letters from the base by courier who was supposed to mail the communications within the United States to avoid censorship.

JOBLESS PAYMENTS FALL OFF

Increased employment in defense activities today was cited as the chief factor in an almost 50 per cent decrease in the amount of unemployment benefits paid in 1941 and a consequent rise in the unemployment compensation fund to $108,000,000.

The money in the fund is now "approximately $30,000,000 more than the amount available at the same time in 1940, and is caused chiefly by the employment rise which increased defense activity has produced," Robert E. Marshall, employment security director said.

"During 1940," Marshall said, "767,358 unemployed persons found it necessary either to file a new claim for benefits or to reopen a previously established claim. During 1941, this figure dropped to 407,548, a decrease of 47 per cent."

REVERE FIRST OVER TOP IN FUND DRIVE

Subscriptions totalling 113.3 per cent of its quota today sent Revere over the top in the Greater Boston United War Fund drive, Chairman Daniel D. Dillon, of the local committee, announced. This is the first city to reach its quota in the present drive.

Elsewhere the drive crept slowly towards the half-way mark with a total of $3,300,000 subscribed as volunteer workers gathered at the City Club for another report luncheon.

The goal, to be met by Feb. 11, is $7,600,000 for the support of 215 agencies throughout Greater Boston, as well as the Red Cross, the Army and Navy Committee and the United Service Organizations.

Today is Mayor's Day in the drive, with Mayor Tobin and Pat O'Brien, the film star, listed as the chief speakers at the luncheon.

A large donation was sent in by a crippled woman, who asked she be sent two window stickers because she lived on a corner and wanted people on both streets to know she had donated.

An aged widow tried to give her 61-year-old wedding ring so that it might be sold for benefit of the fund. She said she did not expect to live long and hoped the ring might aid men in the service.

At the same time, officials highly praised the volunteers who are working night day to meet the goal.

Expressing pleasure at initial responses in the Metropolitan Division of the Fund campaign, Charles C. Cabot, chairman of this unit warned of over-confidence.

"We've got a good beginning in the Metropolitan Division," he said. "We're off to a faster start than ever. But there's great danger in a fast start. We can't afford to be over-confident. We've still got the better part of the way to go."

U-BOATS HAVE MOTHER SHIP IN ATLANTIC?

AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT, Jan. 28 (AP)—Belief that a German submarine mother ship had released a pack of U-boats off the North American east coast was expressed today by survivors of a Norwegian tanker and a Greek freighter, sunk in the western Atlantic with a possible loss of 51 lives.

The chief officer of the freighter said the undersea boat which attacked his ship was not a long-range submarine. "It must be operating," he said, "from a mother ship in the western Atlantic."

Two hours after the attack the submarine came to the surface and approached the lifeboat.

The chief officer of the freighter said its commander asked the name of the ship he had sunk, then asked in precise English whether the survivors needed anything.

He tossed them two packages of cigarettes and some biscuits and then left them.

Meanwhile an air and sea search continued for 1 men from the Norwegian tanker who might be still adrift in a lifeboat. Other survivors, however, feared the boat might have capsized in a violent storm a few hours after the tanker went to the bottom.

Twenty-one seamen from the tanker reached port after 10 days in a lifeboat. Two died in the boat. Only 12 of the Greek freighter's crew of 43 survived. Four died in lifeboats during the two and a half days before they were picked up.

Saltonstall War Bills Speeded

Undaunted by severe criticism leveled by a number of groups, state leaders backing Gov. Saltonstall's emergency wartime bill today pressed for swift approval at a number of scheduled committee hearings.

Labor and war veteran groups were the first to speak out against the bill seeking a $7,000,000 war chest and unlimited powers for the governor. Their opposition was not so much on the bill itself as on many sections in which the unprecedented war powers were not "clear, specific, or defined."

Hearings were scheduled today before the rules committee and the public service committee—following up sessions held by the military affairs committee and the public safety committee.

Meanwhile Gov. Saltonstall revealed his big budget of $7,000,000 would see $2,000,000 going to the Massachusetts committee on public safety, the unit which is to direct civilian defense.

Another $2,000,000 would be used up in granting the suggested 10 per cent increases for state workers, $800,000 for the state guard and armories, $200,000 for the Metropolitan District Commission, $800,000 for the State Police and $1,000,000 for the purchase of surplus commodity food stocks.

Heading the opposition of veterans was Coleman Curran, state adjutant of the American Legion, who said that provision concerning Civil Service laws were not clear.

"We will absolutely oppose any suspension of Civil Service laws and veterans' preference except in an extreme emergency, when no Civil Service lists are available," Curran declared.

Under the war measure the Governor would be granted power to enforce blackout and air raid regulations, to set aside labor and Civil Service laws, to regulate transportation and to seize stuffs and property.

Kenneth I. Taylor, secretary of the Massachusetts Federation of Labor, declared that the section of the bill under which the Governor would be empowered to state "terms and conditions of labor and employment" was "too loose."

Huey Long Men Back in Power

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 28 (AP)—The once riddled Huey P. Long political machine in Louisiana fought its way back to power in New Orleans yesterday with a sweeping re-election victory for Mayor Robert S. Maestri, former Long lieutenant.

The clearcut majority given Maestri by the city's Democrats challenged Governor Sam H. Jones, chosen just two years ago on a "reform" platform. Jones' administration has been seriously crippled by political sniping at laws he sponsored, many of which have been found unconstitutional.

Jones had entered the city campaign to speak against "dictatorship" and to urge the voters to unseat Maestri, who is serving out his sixth year in the office he won in 1936. Swept back into office with Maestri was his entire city ticket. — "GIVE-UNITED WAR FUND" — SOVIET ENVOY ILL

CAFETERIAS

AT THE SIGN OF THE RED APPLE.

"NUTRIFYING VITTLES... Suh!"

JUST THE OTHER NIGHT,

as I came through one of our cafeterias, I was hailed by a friend who was seated at a table eating his supper, and with evident relish was cleaning up the last few mouthfuls of one of our feature specials of the day.

• "Jim," said he, as I stopped for a moment, "I have just finished about as good an order of country sausage patties and apple sauce as I ever hope to see. In fact, it was so good, and it went to just the right spot in such satisfactory fashion, that it reminds me of a comment made to me several years ago.

• "I was down at Fortress Monroe, in Virginia," he went on... "at the famous old Hotel Chamberlain. A group of us were having breakfast, and as the grand old white-haired colored waiter almost reverently placed my order in front of me, in a deep bass voice he announced, 'These sure is nuttifying vittles, suh!'

• "And while as it happened," he added, "my breakfast that morning was ham and eggs, yet the story is just as applicable to these country sausage patties and apple sauce. They sure are nuttifying vittles."

• I chuckled at the story, as I walked away. And at the same time I knew why the patties appealed to this friend of mine. For we prepare every pound of our sausage meat, and we know all the good things that go into it. It is one of the most popular items we serve!

SAVE THESE THINGS AND HELP WIN THE WAR!

Begin to save each and every one of these materials today—they are all necessary to aid America in defeating her enemies.

This was the advice of Gurth F. Chambers, chairman of the state salvage program, in outlining under four categories the articles that every man, woman and child should begin to save. The list follows:

(1) Waste paper: old newspapers, wrapping paper, cardboard boxes, paper bags, magazines, advertising material, tissue paper, stationery.

(2) Old rags: all cast off clothing, shirts, underwear, suits, overcoats, draperies, mattresses, pillows, sheets, towels, flour and sugar bags, carpets, burlap bags, and any item which contains cotton or wool.

(3) Metal: Anything made of metal such as old garden tools, metal beds, old stoves, grills, disused heaters, boilers, radiators, wash pails, wire fencing, iron rails, tire chains, pots and pans, table ware, picture frames, hangers, tooth paste containers and other tubes, pipes, hardware, batteries, washboards, fireplace equipment, door knobs and locks, ash trays, drain pipes, gutters, window stripping, metal roofing, old chains.

Do NOT save tin cans and razor blades.

(4) Rubber: Old tubes, tires that cannot be retreaded, old bath mats, hot water bottles, rubbers, overshoes, sneakers, sink mats, and any other articles made of rubber.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, WEDNESDAY, JAN. 28, 1942

12 million tons, and going strong...

BETHLEHEM STEEL in 1941 made its all-time annual ingot production record of 12,155,476 net tons. This was nearly 1½ million tons above the year before.

Seeking ever greater productivity, Bethlehem has built continuously even throughout the depression years, so that our steel capacity today is five times what it was in the last World War.

Existing facilities have been revamped to produce more and more ingots. New steel-making capacity of 800,000 tons has been added during the past year, and production from this source will be realized increasingly during 1942. The continuous flood of Bethlehem Steel production is mounting rapidly higher.

New finishing facilities, moreover, have been and are being built at top speed to increase the flow of steel forgings for airplane parts, armor-plate for battleships, ordnance, wire for balloon barriers, steel plates for tanks, and a myriad of other steel products needed for America's fighting forces.

As a supplier of materials for Victory, our constant purpose is "Always more production."

10 Milk Deliveries Cut To Alternate Days

Nearly 100 Treasury Department sleuths today launched a drive against tire ration violators, while milk dealers of the state announced that home deliveries will be made only every other day beginning Feb. 8.

The milk dealers, after a meeting at Ford Hall, also voted to eliminate by Monday all special home deliveries on retail routes and to cut wholesale deliveries to one each day except to hospitals and defense plants.

Under the new program, brought about by the shortage of tires, the housewife no longer will be able to call up her favorite company and have a couple of quarts of ice cream sent over for unexpected guests. And if the baby's supply runs short she'll have to make a trip to the store herself.

The tire conservation program is to be entirely voluntary. Yet it was announced that the state milk control board would be asked to make it compulsory if the plan fails.

Era Merrill, an official of H. P. Hood & Sons, told members of his company already had effected a 40 per cent tire saving by consolidating routes, while Charles E. Herlihy of Herlihy Bros., Inc., estimated the company's saving at fully 30 per cent.

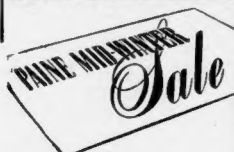

Revelation that the rationing program now has teeth was made by State Administrator Thomas M. Joyce who said that federal officials were on the trail of individuals and companies who were suspected of violation of the rationing edict.

Joyce said only 10 complaints thus far had been received but that men were at work on them. Among others who are under investigation are those who have told their dealers, "We know where to get tires and we're going to get them."

Beauticians Will Pick Miss Venus

Here's the long and the short of it as arranged so astoundingly by the Massachusetts Cosmetologists Ass'n, which closes its convention at Hotel Statler tonight with selection of "Miss Venus" and "Miss Massachusetts."

First, the experts who make women beautiful announced short hair was back so that the ladies could spend more time at war work and less before their mirrors.

And the all-apparent revelation that men who are working hard at defense don't want to spend their evenings with a lot of female lieutenant colonels, even if we are at war. But, here too, the cosmetologists have a remedy. Wigs are back!

Yes, the lady of the duration is to have short hair to speed her working day. But in the evening she may switch to swishy gowns and don soft artificial hair.

This is to be worn this spring much the same way as ornamental jewelry.

about 100 individual producers, frozen some prices, and listed others at what it considered fair.

The scope of price control is enlarged tremendously by the new measure. Here are its principal provisions:

MAY FIX MAXIMUMS

A single administrator is authorized to fix price maximums on selected commodities whenever he believes prices are excessive and threaten the war production program.

Except as to farm prices, the levels between Oct. 1 and 15, 1941, would be used as standard. Before farm prices could be limited, they could rise to 110 per cent of parity, the average price between 1919-29, or the level on Oct. 1 or Dec. 15, 1941.

Rent maximums, with April 1, 1941, charges as a standard, also could be ordered in crowded defense areas.

Buyers and sellers of all commodities affected by price orders, except farmers and fishermen, would be licensed. Criminal penalties up to $3000 fine and two years in jail also are provided for violators.

Appeals could be taken from OPA orders, either to the administrator, a special court of federal judges, or the Supreme Court.

Wages are exempt from limitation as are rates charged by publishers of newspapers, books and periodicals, press associations, railroads, public utilities, radio, motion pictures or other theaters, outdoor advertising firms, doctors and lawyers.

Mansfield Renews Birth Control Fight

Turned down in his initial argument, former Mayor Frederick W. Mansfield planned a new campaign against the initiative petition to legalize birth control information at a resumed hearing today before the state ballot law commission.

The former mayor earlier demanded that names of 5000 voters affixed to the petition be thrown out since the names of the original 10 sponsors did not appear at the head of the list. He also said it should be thrown out because the names were on yellow paper instead of white forms, but Chairman Joseph A. Conway ruled this argument out.

2 OFFICERS CITED

Two officers were named in the report for especially heroic action. One of them, first Lieut. George H. Cannon, 26, son of Mrs. B. B. Cannon, 111 Olivia ave. Ann Arbor, Mich., died from loss of blood apparently caused by the fact that he refused to be removed from his command post after he had been seriously wounded.

The other was Corp. Harold R. Hazelwood, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Hazelwood of R.R. No. 1, Stark City, Mo., switchboard operator at the same command post.

In spite of shock and a compound leg fracture when the post was hit by a Japanese shell, Hazelwood set up his damaged switchboard and re-established communications.

Cannon, who was directing fire from the post, suffered fractures of both legs and pelvis, the report said, "but refused to be evacuated before his wounded men."

SOMEWHERE IN NORTHERN IRELAND, Jan. 28 (AP)—United States troops, newly established in Northern Ireland, were called from their beds before dawn to begin learning the business of what to do and how to behave in case of a Nazi air raid.

Their first day in camp yesterday was free for the men to rest from a tiring ocean trip, but when the bugle sounded this morning it meant an arduous training program was being resumed.

Officials do not conceal their concern that the Germans may attempt to give the troops in the new encampments a taste of bombing.

A German bomber was engaged by ground batteries not far away at the moment the troops were landing.

All the camps, constructed by lend-lease technicians months in advance, have been equipped with air raid shelters and the men are to be taught quickly their most efficient use.

This section of Northern Ireland, with its old world ways and unchanging customs, has been transformed into a corner of the U. S. A. by the advent of the new AEF.

The groundwork for the transformation, however, was laid by a corps of 1500 American technicians who have been laboring here for months to build the cantonments into which the troops moved on their debarkation Monday.

The technicians did more than build the cantonments, for they paved the way for the doughboys by establishing friendly relations with the Irish despite differences in speech and temperament.

Recruited from the lumber camps of the American Northwest, from construction jobs and factories, they have amazed and pleased the people of this Emerald Isle by the vigor with which they have tackled a tough wartime task.

The technicians have brought with them a variety of dialects and accents perplexing to the Irish—ranging all the way from the drawling speech of Texas to the typical twang of the New Englander.

If the Irish have found the accents of the Americans perplexing, however, the latter have been no less astonished by the speech of the Ulstermen.

"Dose Irish," said one technician from Brooklyn, "initially use some cheese expressions."

British, Burmese Units Battle Japs

RANGOON, Burma, Jan. 28 (AP)—British and Burmese forces engaged Japanese advance units today in a region described as east of the Salween river, principal watercourse of eastern Burma which flows south into the Gulf of Martaban at Moulmein.

In general the communiqué reported that "the situation on the Tenasserim (southern Burma) front remains unchanged."

FORT DIX, N. J., Jan. 28 (AP)—A military charge of murder was preferred last night against Pvt. Carl Strother, 20, of Boston, in the shooting of Pvt. Frederick H. Robinson, 28, of Washington, D. C., while the two Negro infantrymen were on guard duty Saturday.

Maj. Agee Woldike, post public relations officer, said the charge, preferred by their company commander First Lieut. Rufus W. Johnson, would be investigated by a board of officers before Strother faces a court-martial.

that the presence of the American troops in northern Ireland may tend to perpetuate partition.

The failure of the United States to support Eire in its demand for a united Ireland is considered by Irish quarters in Washington to be contrary to the principles of the Atlantic charter.

F. D. Says 10 AEF Units Over World

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today the Allies were making excellent progress in getting help to the far Pacific and asserted there were six, eight, ten American expeditionary forces in various localities of the world.

Much had been accomplished, too, he said, in bringing about unification of command, although not as a result of the Roberts report on the Pearl Harbor attack, which principally blamed lack of collaboration between the Army and Navy for that debacle. Unification began long before the report was issued, he said.

He declined to elaborate concerning help being sent to the western Pacific area. A reporter asked whether supplies had been sent to that war zone, and he answered that good progress had been made. Asked if men had been sent, too, he replied that he preferred to apply the broader word help to what was being done.

The President thought it silly to refer to the American troops in northern Ireland as an AEF. He said this country has six, eight or 10 expeditionary forces. But would not, of course, disclose where they were.

Ulster Chief Deplores DeValera's Attitude

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Jan. 28 (AP)—Prime Minister John M. Andrews told Parliament here today that Eamon De Valera, Prime Minister of Eire, had no right to protest the arrival of United States troops in Ulster.

Andrews said: "Eie (De Valera) evidently resents the arrival of American troops here. No doubt he would have prevented it if he could, just as he has denied to Britain and the United States use of naval bases in Eire."

"This folly has meant the sacrifice of many thousands of gallant lives in the battle of the Atlantic. Eire is in no less danger of invasion by Germany than Britain and northern Ireland. If such an attack were made, the people of Eire would be glad of any help they could secure, whether British or American."

"It is our duty and our privilege not only to welcome the American troops, but to facilitate them to the uttermost in the task in which they are engaged."

when she heard Milburn's voice. Miss Christensen quickly picked up the conversation. After conveying greetings of her parents and mutual friends, she inquired as to the time in Ireland, and then swung into the thought closest to her mind.

"How about those Irish girls," she asked her faraway sweetheart, "do they all have red hair?"

"I don't know yet," came the reply. "We haven't got away to see yet."

Mrs. Carl Hienke, the soldier's mother, was admittedly nervous as she conveyed greetings of the family to her son.

Milburn's father, who was born in Germany and advised his son in a recent letter to "give 'em hell," was the most nervous of the trio. He told his son he had put "Hutchinson on the map."

"I'm sure it won't be long now, since you're over there," he told his son. "And when it's over we'll be waiting here for you."

To this, Toia added "and I'll be waiting, too."

SURPRISE LAND-SEA DRIVES PART OF VICTORY PROGRAM

By EDWIN STOUT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP)—Official statements indicated today that the United States and Britain have worked out a long-term land-sea victory plan for surprise expeditions of field army size to strike suddenly across any ocean.

Disclosures of President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and congressional leaders gave broad outlines of the plan and Congress rushed legislation to carry it out. The House passed, 338 to 0, and sent to the Senate last night the $17,722,565,474 naval appropriations bill, including a special emergency provision for the developing amphibious strategy.

The bill provides $3,900,000,000 for emergency construction of 1799 special vessels. The House naval committee disclosed in a report that this provision would give "the necessary ships with which to conduct the amphibious operations which it is contemplated may be necessary to prosecute the present war to a successful conclusion."

Aussie Fliers Blast 4 Ships in Harbor Attack

MELBOURNE, Jan. 28 (AP)—Four of 11 Japanese transport ships in the harbor at Japanese-occupied Rabaul on New Britain Island have been rendered useless by two Australian air attacks, Army Minister Francis Forde announced today.

He said several of the other ships had been damaged. "Three transports were said to have been put out of action in the RAAF attack Monday and one was seen wrecked by a previous bombing.

There was no word from Australian militia reported holding out against the Japanese in the hills which jut up south of the port.

160-Mile Libya Drive by Nazis

By W. P. SAPHIRE

International News Service Staff Correspondent

CAIRO, Jan. 28 (INS)—Driving 160 miles to the east across the Libyan desert, mechanized forces of German Gen. Erwin Rommel have penetrated Misa, the Middle Eastern high command admitted today.

British forces, however, are struggling desperately to put a halt to the Nazi advance, obviously designed to cut off imperial troops occupying the coastal arc between Benghazi and Bardia.

Heavy casualties have been meted out to the Axis forces, especially by the Royal Air Force, which is lashing out incessantly at enemy mechanized vehicles.

British imperial headquarters quickly divined Axis strategy, a sharp departure from the sea-saw land exchanges along the coastal escarpment which characterized virtually all previous Libyan operations.

The moment Rommel struck from his position below Benghazi across the desert itself toward Misa it became apparent that he was attempting to cut off the British, and proper dispositions of men and material were taken to meet his threat.

JAPS PRESSING HARD
The Japanese fifth division, composed of veteran shock troops, hammered meanwhile at the middle of the line between Ayer Hitam and Kuang, railway center about 50 miles north of here.

Action on the east coast was reported less intense, but there, too, a major battle appeared to be in the making as the Japanese moved up reinforcements landed yesterday at Endau from transports which took a heavy battering from the RAAF.

The British lines in that sector were anchored at Jemarang, about 35 miles above Singapore and 10 miles south of the Meara river. Aerial activity was reported heavy along the entire front, with Japanese dive-bombers attempting to blast a path for advancing infantry and mechanized forces while the RAAF struck back at the invaders' lines of communication.

Today's U. S. Communique

The text of the U. S. Army communique, based on reports received up to 9:30 a. m. Eastern standard time today, follows:

"1—Philippine theater: There was practically no ground activity on the Bataan peninsula yesterday. The enemy landed relatively small numbers in the Subic bay area. Enemy air activity was limited to reconnaissance flights.

"2—Netherlands Indies: Further reports of the action in Macassar straits disclose that eight heavy American Army bombers sank a large Japanese transport in the river at Balikpapan and scored a direct hit on a cruiser outside of the harbor. During this attack, one of the bombers was lost. In a previous attack by our planes in this action, one enemy transport was sunk and another set afire, as reported on Jan. 26.

"3—There is nothing to report from other areas."

Nazis Execute Four De Gaulle Followers

VICHY, Jan. 28 (AP)—The Germans, announcing that four Frenchmen were shot in one group today, cited "De Gaulle activities" as one of the charges for the first time.

Another Frenchman, name not given and offense not stated, was disclosed also to have died before a firing squad at Marseille.

At Douai, in the occupied industrial north, 18 alleged Communists were given two to 10 years at hard labor and at Montpellier a military court sentenced four other Communists to terms ranging from one to 10 years.

CRITICS HIT CHURCHILL, WILL VOTE CONFIDENCE

LONDON, Jan. 28 (AP)—The government was accused today of misleading the country with "childish inconsistency" and unfulfilled promises of security in the Pacific war area but, in almost the same breath, Prime Minister Churchill's critics in the House of Commons assured him the vote of confidence that he demands.

Starting the second day of debate over the government's war leadership, launched yesterday with the prime minister's accounting to Parliament and the nation, Clement Attlee, his lieutenant in the House, formally proposed the vote of confidence.

Labor members decided by a large majority to support it, but there were signs that some might abstain and that a few might even vote against the government. Liberals were reported also to have decided to support him.

Sir John Wardlaw Milne, an influential Conservative who led the critics' attack, announced nevertheless that he also would vote confidence because an adverse vote "would be disaster."

He accused the Prime Minister of seeking the vote primarily for the sake of his assailed colleagues.

As was foreseen, Britain's reverses in the battle for Singapore and the trend of the war in North Africa were two pivots of the attack, and prospective United States help was cited on the credit side of the government's ledger.

"We are entitled to look to the United States for naval control in the Pacific," Sir John declared, "and I have no doubt that in the end we shall not be disappointed."

"It would be valueless to discuss Pearl Harbor.

"They, at least, had the excuse that they weren't at war. We were, and we were caught equally napping."

That the United States agreed at a time when she was attacked by a formidable enemy to pool her resources and let them be sent where they are most needed "will stand high among the great transactions of these days," said Henry Graham White, a Liberal.

SHIRLEY TEMPLE'S NEW GROWNUP FILM AT PARAMOUNT, FENWAY TOMORROW

Herbert Marshall Is Her Co-Star

Shirley Temple, that cute tyke who took time off from the screen to grow up, is here again . . . or will be tomorrow.

After a two-year absence, she is making a "come-back" in "Kathleen," which opens tomorrow on the Paramount and Fenway screens.

In "Kathleen," Shirley plays the part of a motherless child, whose father is too preoccupied with his private affairs to give her more than passing heed. When the father becomes engaged to a scheming woman, the child runs away. It is not until a feminine child psychologist is called in that father and daughter reach an understanding.

Herbert Marshall plays the father, a role he should know by heart now. Laraine Day portrays the psychiatrist and Gail Patrick, the schemer. Felix Bressart is importantly featured. Harold Bucquet directed for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. The co-feature, "Dr. Kildare's Victory," is the story of a beautiful debutante whose life is saved by an operation performed by Lew Ayres, in the title role, and Dr. Gillespie, played by Lionel Barrymore. Others are Ann Suss Ayars, a screen newcomer; Robert Sterling and Jean Rogers.

'Black Beauty' Being Adapted for Films

"Black Beauty," Anna Sewall's famous novel, is now being adapted for the screen by Monogram's Henry Blankford and is scheduled for filming within the next few weeks. Edward Finney and Lindsey Parsons will be co-producers.

Melvyn Douglas Once Reader of Gas Meters

Melvyn Douglas, who makes love so skillfully to "Two-Faced Woman" Garbo on Loew's twin screens, was reading gas meters for his meals in Chicago a few years ago. His name then was Melvyn Hiesberg.

Russian Film At Fine Arts

"Girl From Leningrad," new Russian film with English titles, opens today on the Fine Arts screen.

Portraying the heroism of the Russian women's army under fire, the film is dedicated to those women everywhere who fight with the weapons of courage and tenderness at the side of men defending their future.

New York film critics have praised it highly for its fine acting, expert direction and first-rate script. They stress its humor, drama and romance, intimating that the made-in-Hollywood Florence Nightingale sagas suffer woefully by comparison with this graphic presentation of the part Russian Red Cross nurses are playing at the Russo-Nazi front.

Moscow, as seen through the lens of Margaret Bourke-White's incomparable camera, is the subject of the latest Russian newsreel now showing on the Fine Arts screen.

'Penrod' Next Children's Play

When the Clare Tree Major Children's Theater presents Boston's "Penrod" at Jordan Hall on Saturday morning pretty Gretchen Coleman of Belmont will have the leading juvenile role.

Before joining the famous Major Theater for Childrens Miss Coleman tried out and was accepted for a season of summer "straw hat" stock with the South Shore Players at Cohasset.

The talented Gretchen prepared for a stage career by studying drama courses in the Academy of the Assumption in Wellesley; the Georgetown Visitation, Holy Ann Arms and King Smith Studios in Washington and at the Alviene School of the Theater in New York City.

Presented under the auspices of the Women's International League, "Penrod" is the third in the one-a-month series of five plays to be given this season.

Kenn Randall and Chris Chalmers are others in the cast.

"The Sleeping Beauty" and "Toby Tyler" have been selected as the plays to follow by the group.

Robert Young Begun Acting at Soda Fount

The vanilla-chocolate-strawberry banana split, topped with nuts and whipped cream, is a concoction of Robert Young's.

The young actor, who has just completed his starring role in "Joe Smith, American," was jerking sodas during the day and playing with the Pasadena Community Playhouse evenings to secure his dramatic training.

2 Roosevelts In Newsreel

Two President Roosevelts are featured in the Old South's currently spotlighted newsreel — Franklin D. and his famous predecessor in the White House, Teddy. The dynamic Rough Rider does not actually appear in the film, which re-creates an historic moment in the White House when President Theodore Roosevelt received a delegation of merchants protesting the proposed enactment of a pure food law. The late Dr. Harvey Wiley's proof that diseased food cost this country countless lives in the Spanish-American War brought about the bill's passage.

FUTURE NAZI ARMY

Illegitimate Babies to Fill Gaps in Ranks

Perfect "Aryans"—Hitler's dream of world domination brings births of illegitimate children to fill the gaps left in the German ranks . . . and these pictures tell the story of the Nazi Fuehrer's great drive to produce the perfect "Aryans" of the future Reich army. These babies, born of adolescent fathers, come into the world without a conventional family background . . . and become slaves of the German State. Special homes house the mothers and babies.

SUNDAY ADVERTISER

OUR DAILY CITATION: To Patrolman Neil

A. McDavitt of Brighton Station, who risked his life Tuesday to rescue seven persons, one critically burned, in a dwelling house fire. We have heroes on the home front just as we have heroes on the war front. Patrolman McDavitt is one of them.

WE DON'T CARE much for some of the remarks our Allies are making.

We may as well start with Mr. Churchill who, in his best oratorical manner, yesterday declaimed:

"Everything in human power we can do or can persuade the United States to do will be done to help Australia."

Persuade us to do? It sounds too much like an implication that he found us reluctant—and that within a few hours after the landing of an A. E. F. of Army regulars and draftees in Northern Ireland.

Which brings us to the United Press story of the stevedore in Northern Ireland who watched the landing of the American soldiers and remarked:

"It will be all right if they behave themselves."

As we said, some of our boys in this first new A. E. F. are draftees. There has been no conscription in Northern Ireland.

Which brings us to the Associated Press story from Montreal yesterday quoting Quebec's Premier Godbout:

"I think that conscription for overseas service actually would be a crime."

Perhaps we just had a bad day but these bright sayings of our Allies were very distasteful to us.

We found ourselves thinking of little nasty remarks we could make. Then we figured we wouldn't.

Anyway, it's nice to know that General Wavell thinks our General MacArthur is doing a good job.

MOTHERS AND BABIES

are as important in wartime as in peacetime; no matter what happens, we cannot ignore or neglect them.

Happily, the maternal and infant death rates in the United States are now at the lowest points yet recorded, but there is still room for improvement.

Most doctors agree that approximately 50 per cent of the mothers who die during or shortly after childbirth could be saved by intelligent treatment and care.

In some parts of the country the situation is truly deplorable, and those that witness it cannot fail to remember the observation of the late Arthur Brisbane that "the Indian mother bearing her child alone and unattended in the wilderness was often safer than a modern American mother."

One of the many organizations campaigning for mothers and babies is the American Committee on Maternal Welfare, which reports:

"War conditions threaten our recent gains in the fight for women and children.

"In the face of the inevitable increase in the birthrate in wartime—an increase which began more than a year ago—the mobilization of several million men into the Army and the Navy means the withdrawal from civilian practice of more than thirty thousand doctors and many hundreds of nurses.

"War-time social and economic and psychological factors make the task of the doctor, nurse, hospital administrator and public health worker even more difficult."

This is a potent argument for generous donations to the United War Fund.

We have excellent hospitals and clinics in Greater Boston which provide for thousands of expectant mothers and newly born babies annually.

But these important institutions must have adequate financial support. Otherwise, their work must necessarily be curtailed.

All of them will receive this needed money if the United War Fund reaches its $7,600,000 goal.

RALPH WALDO EMERSON

brilliant poet, once said: "The United States!—Go put your creed into your deed!"

That is what Captain Colin P. Kelly, General MacArthur and, more recently, Lieutenant J. D. Bulkeley have done.

They have put their creed into their deeds.

The latest American to write his name high up on the walls of the pantheon of heroes is our thirty-year-old Lieutenant J. D. Bulkeley—the Hero of Binanga Bay.

With eight brave men, Bulkeley rocketed a swift torpedo-boat into a flotilla of Japanese warships and torpedoed a 5000-ton Japanese vessel.

And he lives to do it over again!

Such feats as Bulkeley's and Kelly's are worth a ton of recruiting posters.

They inspire youth to emulation.

They give the lie to the oft-repeated croak of the dictators that democracies are "decayed," that their defenders are "softened" by an "easy life," a "peaceful" life.

For that which inspires such heroic deeds as young Kelly and young Bulkeley lies not so much in the muscle as in the spirit—the soul.

That spirit is the spirit of America.

It is the roar of the lion aroused.

It is the mighty galvanizing force of our youth fighting for freedom and for a flag that has meant for them opportunity and success.

America salutes Bulkeley of Binanga Bay.

On The Side

*Ye flowers that droop
Forsaken by the spring,
Ye birds that left by summer
Cease to sing.
Ye trees, that fade when autumn-heats remove Say, is not absence death to those who love?*

—POPE.

THE ABSENCE of a loved one is, as Mr. Pope indicates above, truly difficult to bear. At present, many sweethearts separated for the duration of the war are somewhat concerned as to which was right: the man who said: "Absence makes the heart grow fonder," or the cynic who claimed: "Absence makes the heart grow fonder—of somebody else." After a long and careful study of the situation, this department is inclined to agree with Robert Louis Stevenson, who said: "Absences are a good influence on love and keep it bright and delicate." And with Roger Bussy-Rabutin, who stated: "Absence is to love what wind is to fire; it puts out the little, it kindles the great." Still we understand how the wives and sweethearts of the men of the armed services might often say, as Frances Kemble did: "My love, what shall I do with all the days and hours that must be counted ere I see thy face?"

TIRE THIEVES should be treated today as horse thieves were in the old West. All communities should have organizations to battle against tire thieves. A good name for such an organization would be the Anti-Ghoul Society. . . . There are 10,000,000 bicycles in the United States and 85 per cent of bike riders are children. Bicycle riders, due to their great numbers, deserve more street and highway recognition. There should be lanes for bike riders everywhere.

ASIDES: "Governmental expenses during the next two years will be equal to one-third of all the wealth that has been accumulated by this nation since its very beginning." So states the eminent tax authority, J. S. Seidman. . . . "The Sixty-Eight Inch Club" of New York is a tall girls' organization whose slogan is "Shrimps are not in season." Most every woman has a feminine chum or "dearest friend," but did you ever see a tall girl and a short girl who were pals? A tall girl never goes around with anybody who might make her seem taller. Another reason why tall girls and cute little tricks are never chums is because they couldn't try on each other's clothes.

PASSING BY: Fannie Brice. Made her stage debut at Keeney's Theater, Brooklyn, singing "When You Know You're Not Forgotten by the Girl You Can't Forget." I liked Fannie in everything she has played except "Baby Snooks." I never could enthuse over grown up ladies imitating babies on the stage, screen or radio. However, do not judge from this that this department is opposed to baby talk at the proper time and place. In that we agree with the man who wrote the song, "When the Grown Up Ladies Talk Like Babies I Just Can't Help Lovin' Them, That's All" . . . Henri Leon Gustave Charles Bernstein, Parisian playwright who left his home town just before the Nazis occupied it. Henri's first New York stage hit was "The Thief." And I have wasted 20 minutes trying to think what actress starred in that opus. His latest play is "Rose Burke," in which Katharine Cornell is starred, and it is now in the try-out stage in the West.

of a lot of girls who wear glasses. In fact, some of the girls wearing this style of glasses look better with than without them. Most feminine spectacle wearers indignantly deny the truth of Dorothy Parker's celebrated contention as to girls wearing glasses. . . . Clothes manufacturers are talking of eliminating vests from spring suits. It's all right with me. I don't care for vests. . . . The manufacture of whiskey may cease for the duration. But there is no cause for worry among those liking strong refreshments. There is a four years' supply on hand. . . . "The qualities most necessary for a successful negotiator," says Lord Rothmere, "are charm, tact and patience." Come to think of it, those three qualities could also be a great help to a person wishing to make a success of matrimony. . . . Why is it that females who are fashion editors are nearly always overdressed and wear the funniest looking hats? It could be because they try too hard to be fashionable. . . . Observed George Bernard Shaw: "Some people are born young and die young in spirit, no matter how long they live; others are born old and die old, plus some years of decay."

SIDEGLITS: The Nazi stress

the "youth" angle of their movement, but the German generals are on the average two and a half years older than the British generals. And hardly any British generals are under 55 years of age. . . . The Chinese claim to have won 45 out of 64 battles with the Japs in 1940. And say their 1941 average is even better. . . . "What became of Eddie Cicotte, Ed Konetchy, and 'Three Finger' Mordecai Brown?" asks Sam Wood. Don't know what became of Cicotte and Konetchy, but Brown runs an auto service station in Terre Haute, Ind. . . . In 1941, Chicago had 1097 one-horse vehicles in regular use and 17 two-horse vehicles. Recently some of the trucking firms in Chicago started buying horses. A team of good truck horses costs $600.

COLLAR MODELS: Fredric March and Alan Curtis were both collar models. Why do they always have good-looking fellows with perfect features as collar models? Why doesn't some firm use a plump collar model with a view toward showing how their collar can make a fellow's face look thinner and also fit comfortably. Remember, no matter what your business is, this department is always happy to tell you how to run it.

He feels he'd be valuable in South America, because he speaks Spanish fluently . . . George Montgomery, the new cinema Romeo, has finally caught up with Olivia DeHavilland, the cinema Juliet, now that Ginger Rogers has caught up with Jean Gabin.

GYPSY ROSE LEE and a recording company are holding hands . . . Washington thinks that Mrs. F. D. Rex O'Malley and Fay Wray are making the Barbary Room look as romantic as a park in Spring . . . Tallulah Bankhead's salary for her new series of ciggie air programs is reported at $2750 per stint . . . Happy days are here again: a "hot seat" (long missing from the Stork Club) has been planted in the new Loners Room . . . Rosemary Lane's mama is back from the Coast all streamlined, looking like another Lané Sister . . . Shubert Alley talk has it that Sam Raphaelson, encouraged by the "mixed" nature of the reviews, has put some of his own coin into "Jason" . . . Bob Riskin is fretting because Frances Robinson has become a baseball fan out of season . . . The ritzy new Penguin Club will send out its opening invitations wrapped around loaves of bread . . . Valerie Moore, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt's ward, is dividing her time between "Chassie" Clark and Herbert Pfaler—often on the same evening . . . Harlem is in the throes of financial recuperation after a mass loss to the numbers men. The whole sector played Joe Louis' draft number the day he was inducted.

FOR REAL FIREWORKS, recommended is the feud between Producer Guthrie McClintic and Playwright Henri Bernstein over the handling of the new Katharine Cornell play . . . Booking offices have been trying to lure Martha Raye into leading an all-girl swing band. Charles Columbus and Kathryn Carroll, the Savoy Plaza dancers, are also romancers . . . The Joseph Cohns (Columbia Fix vice-president's son) have named their new heir Bruce V. Cohn. The V is for Victory! . . . Orrin Root and Whitney Bourne are a heart today . . . Time flits de-fant: Remember when Peter Salm was the center of a front page controversy between his mother, Millicent Rogers, and his father, the Count? Well, Peter is now a man-about-town with pretty Ann Murray on his wing . . . Beverly Paterno has cancelled her night club plans . . . The girl who was weeping at the matinee of "Let's Face It" last week was Nancy Walker, the comedienne of "Best Foot Forward." She was crying because it was so wonderful! . . . Bill Ellsworth, the young millionaire, and Marty Hazlett, the model, have it good . . . The Al Vanderbilts have come to a definite detailed agreement at last.

Billy De Wolfe saved an old lady from falling under the wheels of a truck in a heroic rescue job at 50th and Lexington the other night and suffered a bruised leg himself . . . Business is getting brighter. The Jessels have quadrupled receipts at Fefe's Monte Carlo, and El Morocco last week had its biggest week since Pearl Harbor . . . Milton Eulau, the Broadway attorney, is getting down to romantic cases with Renee Russell of "Let's Face It" . . . Harry Hopkins is sailing again . . . Ed Wynn starts his skating lessons next week in preparation for his new musical. The Heasley twins will tutor him . . . Vaughn Monroe's song has been chosen as the official recruiting song of the Army Air Corps. It's called "Hi There, Guy, How'd You Like to Fly?" . . . The Ken Overlins say they're very happy, thanks.

BOSTON after DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

TWO IF'S—ONE POSSIBLE and the other probably possible—could come true suddenly and Boston would be the home for a week of the four greatest artists of the colored population . . . The nucleus of the notion is the unexpected and very welcome booking, just confirmed as this is written, of Ethel Waters and the renowned Duke Ellington . . . The girl who made "Stormy Weather" famous and the musician musicians acclaim as the head man of them all will play the Keith-Boston beginning Feb. 13 . . . The "if" which we consider possible, is the booking of Bill "Bojangles" Robinson at the Mayfair, with Feb. 12 as the opening date.

IT WAS A QUESTION whether John Boles or "Bojangles" would be the Mayfair's attraction of next Wednesday . . . Boles was hired . . . But the following week is open, and Robinson's availability for that time will be settled today . . . Now—which is probably possible—if a local concert impresario could schedule Marlon Anderson for a week of New England bookings, with Boston the hub of the tour and a Symphony Hall date as its highlight—what a carnival of colored entertainment we would be harboring for that period! . . . News on Robinson may be forthcoming shortly . . . That there is a chance of the 60-year-old tap-dancer playing the open date is indicated by the booking of Erik Rhodes for Feb. 20, instead of Feb. 13 which Erik had open . . . If Bill doesn't come, John Boles will be held over . . . He is assured of a cordial Boston reception.

THE RECORDS PROVE that the former star of Broadway operettas has a magnificent local following . . . Martha Raye, Mary Pickford, Pat O'Brien and John Boles—all in person—and a Mae West picture, are closely grouped as the leading box office attractions of the past decade at the Metropolitan Theater . . . The O'Brien score isn't completed yet, but with today's count-up, the man who played Father Duffy (in "The Fighting Sixty-Ninth") and Knute Rockne will have qualified as one of the box office leaders.

PAT HAS BEEN MADE an honorary captain of the Boston police force, and he was showing-off his shiny, gold badge, a gift from Commr. Timilty, to dressing-room visitors . . . but Pat had some nervous hours in his second-last day in Boston . . . A telephone call from his home in Brentwood informed him that his wife had been in an auto accident . . . Pat was on the point of collapse . . . Within a week, tragedy had twice stalked his close circle of friends with the death of Carole Lombard, whom he had seen shortly before her ill-starred airplane trip, and news of the death of Spencer Tracy's

MR. AND MRS. PAT O'BRIEN

Phone call to Boston told him she was injured in auto crash mother . . . (Pat and Spence are chums) . . . Later, Pat learned that Mrs. O'Brien had been injured, but not seriously, and that the medics were awaiting the X-ray verdict on a possible fracture of the foot.

INCIDENTALLY, HERE'S A REMINDER to Mr. O'Brien . . . Pat (and all the other guests of the Baseball Writer's Dinner tonight) will be hearing a silver-voiced youngster named Timmy Rlordan, who hails from Melrose . . . That is we hope that Pat will be among those hearing Timmy . . . There is a chance, however, that the program-makers will schedule Timmy for an early performance, and that Pat, who has to play a late show, will arrive too late to hear this personable youngster sing . . . It would be nice if Joe Cashman, Johnny Drohan, Arthur Sampson, John Brooks et al could arrange to have young Timmy sing while Pat is in the house . . . It might be the youngster's chance.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: According to a New York press-agent firm which slugs its messages "truth is stranger than fiction—and makes better publicity"—the trade name for the average musician is "Joe Blow" . . . Zonia Duval, currently working for Col. Al Somerby at the Old Howard, is wearing a Canadian RAF insignia pin . . . It was presented her while she was playing in Toronto last week for her good work—knitting.

JACK BENNY'S STAR RISES HIGHER

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 28.—Jack Benny's career as a movie star is becoming almost as important in his life as his air program. He usually makes one picture a year and lets it go at that. But he will make three this year—two for Warners "George Washington Slept Here," the George Kaufman-Moss Hart play, follows "The Widow Wouldn't Weep" and, of course, then Jack has "Te Be or Not to Be," Carole Lombard's last picture.

Jerry Wald and Jack Saper are assigned to produce "George Washington Slept Here" and it will be made in the late spring. Mary Benny, who has been very sick for the last few days, having fainted after she finished her radio program Sunday night, is reported better. Mary is suffering from sinus trouble.

KATHARINE CORNELL

HEAD MAN HERBERT YATES of Republic is in town and he and Moe Sengel have been burning the midnight oil lining up their product for 1942. All the hired help have been in on the conferences with them. Their latest purchase is "Eleven Were Brave," by Charles G. Booth, author of "The General Died at Dawn," one of Gary Cooper's pictures.

The new Booth yarn concerns both World Wars, Nos. 1 and 2, and is about an American bell-boy who snags a machine gun nest in 1917, but through a mistake another boy grabs the credit. When the current war breaks out the ex-bellhop gets his delayed recognition. Don Barry will get a breather from his boss operas to go dramatic as the hero.

H. G. WELLS, who has always had his tongue in his cheek where movies are concerned, will forget his feeling long enough to adapt his own story, "The History of Mr. Polly," for Charles Laughton, Wells and Laughton discussed "Mr. Polly" for three years and I have an idea when Wells finishes his version it will be much more Laughton than Mr. Polly.

Now that we have George Bernard Shaw and H. G. Wells doing movie stuff, it wouldn't surprise me if that other "holdout," Katharine Cornell, breaks down and accepts one of the seven million offers made her.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Eddie Albert's heart is a Mexican charmer by the name of Carmelita Consuelo. The lady is in the government civil service there.

Nancy Kelly and Robert Sterling dining tele-a-tete at the Brown Derby, apparently finding each other good company.

Billie Burke has a new granddaughter. The young lady, named Cecilie Burke Stephenson, was born to Pat Ziegfeld and her husband, William Stephenson; Lana Turner was at the Palladium waiting for Tommy Dorsey the other eve. Seems they made up again.

Betty Field, home from her New Orleans honeymoon with Elmer Rice, making tests for the role of Maria in "For Whom the Bell Tolls;" Jane Withers is sporting a new haircut—and very cute.

Jimmy Durante's wife is very sick; Sid Factor, youngest of the clan, welcomed a six-pound, 12-ounce girl at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

Roland Drew says: "Buy defense bonds. Your dollar will make the Japs holler."

Listen, World! JOYOUS LIVING

By Elsie Robinson

I'm glad I've lived! If I were to die before tomorrow—

And if, before I died, Everything were taken from me, And my friends betrayed me, and I were forced to endure The utmost shame and heartbreak, I'd still say—"I'M GLAD I'VE LIVED—" "WHATEVER IT COSTS, "LIFE IS WORTH WHILE!"

As a matter of fact, Like every normal human Who's old enough to come in out of the rain, I have endured most of these things

In some measure, And at first, I'll confess, I raised an awful rumpus about it. "What's the use of going on?" I cried,

"If I've got to be sick and poor? "What's the use of trying, "If your friends betray you? "What's there left to live for, "When the one you loved is dead?"

That's how I talked at first—for being young and ignorant, I thought that Life means only What happened to Me. And how I felt about it. And if I wasn't happy Then Life was a flop. And, naturally, As long as I felt that way Life was a flop for me For it's plain to see That in a world as crowded as this,

As bristling with conflict. And competition, And disappointment and accident, It's obviously impossible For things to happen to suit Any one person's convenience.

And, as long as I insisted On hogging the spotlight, Life was bound to be Just one sock in the jaw After another. But after many years of socks—Twenty, thirty, forty, More than fifty years of socks—I began to see that Life Had bigger concerns than my happiness, Or anyone's personal happiness. I began to see that Life was concerned With the great and endless Adventure of Growing.

Races growing . . . spirits growing . . . And that the mishaps that came To me and everyone Were just part of the program—Of growing. And I realized that Life,

However it happened, Was a Great Show. If it held ugliness, It also held beauty, If it held lies, It also held truth, If it held death, It also held birth. And who could tell which was which.

But you didn't need to tell— You didn't need to judge— All you needed to enjoy Life, And profit by it, Was to get outside yourself And see Life as a show, Taking things as they came Realizing that everything was important, And sacred and mysterious, Whether it made you happy or not.

That's why I'm saying I'm glad I've lived! It was all worth while, No matter what it cost. Maybe I didn't get the breaks I wanted.

BUT JUST BEING BORN IS THE BIGGEST BREAK ANYONE CAN HAVE! —"GIVE-UNITED WAR FUND"—

United Effort to Shorten War

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

National Woman Director of Civilian Defense

NEW YORK CITY, TUESDAY—In spite of rather gray looking skies, I left Washington yesterday afternoon, hoping to land in New York about 6:45. But we came down at an unfamiliar airport, and I found we were in Philadelphia and the flight was cancelled. I drove to the station and caught a train almost immediately and reached my house at 9:15, so I might just as well have taken a 5 o'clock train out of Washington.

I talked to some Army boys on the way over, who had just had their orders. One youngster in a sailor's uniform sat just a few seats ahead of me. When he turned around, I felt sure he must have added a few years to his age, for he looked fourteen instead of eighteen.

They tell me that the boys coming over here from England to get their training in flying, are very young, ranging from sixteen to twenty. Some of our own pilots are twenty to twenty-two. It is a curious thing to me, that older people seem so often to accept with complacency these young armies. I rebel, and yet I know an army must be young.

I HAVE a great desire to see our fighting forces organized in the most efficient possible way, by putting each individual in the place where he will serve best, because only in that way shall we shorten the horrible period through which we are living. I want to see everyone in civilian life at the present time, doing the job he is best able to do, and doing it as well as he possibly can.

If women are able and skillful enough to go into factories, I hope they will. I hope that all men, young or old, who work in factories in defense industries, will do the most efficient job that can be done. Whatever the jobs are that people are doing, I want them done by the right people and in the best possible way, because that is the way to win this war.

EVERY DAY that goes on, means more young men in every land are dying. I am confident that our cause is just, but I want to see youth free again to fight a different kind of war, a war to find a way by which we all live more decently and happily together.

All of us know that, at the end of this war, that other war has to be fought, and we shall need youth to fight it. I hope that, in every factory today, and in every service camp, young people are discussing the kind of a world they intend to build after the fighting is over. It may not be the kind of a world in which my generation has lived, but if it achieves the ends for which we are fighting: real freedom for every individual regardless of race, creed or color, economic freedom for every individual who is willing to put his capacities to work of some kind, then these horrible days will have obtained good results.

We have to live through them and I accept the necessity but at the same time I hope we do our share in civilian life to prepare for a different and better future world.

Romance

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

ABOUT two and a half years ago I met a boy, when we were freshmen in high school, and we started going together. We quarreled and stopped seeing each other, and then he came back again and told me he loved me. For about a year we went "steady." Now he has met a new girl, who just moved into the neighborhood, and has been going over to see her.

She really is cute, if I do say it, but I think she started chasing him in the first place, and now he seems to like her more than me. She shows plainly that she's fond of him, but says her "steady" boy friend lives in another city and she doesn't see him very often.

Although he still speaks to me and is very nice, my former boy friend doesn't seem to love me as he did. Do you think he'll ever come back to me? Shall I try to forget him?

CLARICE

When your ex-boy friend realizes he is only an understudy for the young lady whose real sweetheart lives at a distance, it's likely he may bring his bruised affections back to you. Of course, if he's the doormat kind, the more the fair siren wipes her feet on him, the more he'll adore her.

If he has what is known as proper pride, he'll rebel at being a convenience and go where he is appreciated. In the meantime, how about your own pride?

If you have all these love affairs going on, my dear Clarice, when do you young people get a chance to study? In my day we really had to crack a book seriously once in a while or see the dean.

THIS NEW LOTION KEEPS THROAT LOOKING YOUNG!

By ARLINE GOULD

IT MATTERS NOT in the least what you've found in the past to be most successful in keeping your throat looking as youthful as possible. Today there is something matchlessly better!

Perhaps you've discovered a lush lubricant that keeps your neck dewy-fresh. Perhaps you've been introduced to a fine astringent which gives your skin a look of crispness and firmness. And then, too, you may be one of the wise women who has discovered that exercise and posture can do wonderful things for a throat-line.

Well, then . . . lump all these grand beauty aids together . . . and you'll find their effect more than equalled by that of a single cosmetic aid . . . an amber liquid of strange texture which is painted on from chin to collarbone, left on for 20 to 30 minutes, then removed with clear water!

We don't mean to imply that you should throw all these faithful retainers of beauty, which you've used so far, forthwith out the window. We do mean, however, that you won't need or want their help as frequently. Not when you discover the amazing, smoothing, stimulating and firming job this unique new cosmetic can do. And we wouldn't be at all surprised if you depended on it wholly from that day on!

The astringent and tightening effect of the liquid on throat tissues starts immediately after application . . . which is a quick whisk with a special brush, an applicator that comes with the new cosmetic.

They say you can actually feel the tightening and toning effects during the application, and also long after the solidified fine "glaze" of the liquid has been removed with clear water.

Remember to leave not a single quarter-inch of throat area uncovered . . . and be sure especially to apply the liquid well up under the chin. Use it as often as you like, day or evening.

To learn about this unusual new throat-cosmetic, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, except the week-end, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

NEWS FOR MODERN WOMEN

FOOD

By Martha Lee

HOWEVER SINCERE THE DESIRE to conform to current food economies, members of families with a highly cultivated taste for sweet desserts will find it hard going to make the sacrifice of sugar occasioned by the threatened shortage, unless the lady who cooks adopts some war-time cooking strategy of her own.

Homemakers active on the home front during World War I with its sugar rationing remind us that it is easily possible to satisfy the natural craving for a sweet at the end of the big meal of the day by making desserts containing such dried fruits high in natural sugar content as raisins, currants, and dates—their sweetness, accentuated by the addition of molasses, honey or syrup.

From the pages of early American cook books compiled in the days when sugar never was in any great abundance, come recipes for a famous sugarless pudding which meets the present situation very well.

INDIAN PUDDING

1-3 cup corn meal
1-3 cup cold water
2 cups evaporated milk mixed with
2 cups water
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. ginger
½ cup molasses
½ cup raisins, chopped
1 egg, beaten

Blend corn meal and 1-3 cup cold water. Add to combined evaporated milk and 2 cups water in a saucepan, then cook over a top gas burner turned to simmer flame, stirring occasionally. In 20 minutes, the corn meal mixture should be ready for making into a pudding. Remove from flame and stir in spices, molasses and raisins, lastly the beaten egg. Pour into a baking dish and bake for 1½ hours in an oven temperature of 325 degrees. Serve hot with whipped, evaporated milk, or use top milk.

One of the convenient economies of puddings of this type is that they round off a meal that may not be as hearty as usual. A steamed pudding may do double duty in thrift by utilizing the suet and fat trimmed from steak, chops or other cuts of meat as well as the bits of suet the butcher includes in the day's order. By storing this suet in the refrigerator until sufficient has accumulated to make a cupful when finely chopped, the family may enjoy this delicious pudding at very little cost.

STEAMED FRUIT PUDDING

1 cup finely chopped suet
1 cup molasses
1 cup sour milk
1½ tsp. soda
1 tsp. cloves
½ tsp. salt
1½ cups seeded raisins, chopped
¾ cup currants
2½ cups flour

Add molasses and sour milk to the chopped suet. Mix and sift 2 cups of flour with the soda, salt and spices, then combine with suet mixture. Dust fruit with remaining flour and add to batter. Pour into oiled mold ¾ full and adjust cover or tie heavy paper securely over the top.

This, like other steamed puddings, may be cooked in a steamer or deep (covered) kettle containing water, over a top gas burner turned to "simmer"—timing it about 4 hours. Or, should yours be one of the new type gas ranges with an oven burner capable of sustaining a very low temperature, the pudding may be oven-cooked at 250 degrees for five hours. Either way, only a minimum of fuel is needed for the cooking process.

Serve this steamed fruit pudding with a hot sauce

HOT JELLY SAUCE

1 cup currant jelly
½ cup boiling water
2 tsp. finely chopped orange peel
Beat all together and serve hot. Makes about 1½ cups sauce. Any candied fruit peel may be used in this recipe.

SUITS FOR NOW AND SPRING LEND SOFTNESS, CHARM

By BETTINA BEDWELL

SUITS that make a point of softness and charm are what the style folks aim to give us to wear from now on into late Spring. That is those of us who aren't in uniform and this means many of us. In fact, I think that the soft suit is so attractive it is going to compensate to most women for the spick and span attraction of the uniform. And I think most men will like it better.

Designed to wear immediately under the fur coat, a feature of lots of these suits is the lack of buttons as fastenings. They tie on and by doing so gain in nonchalance and charm.

The model sketched is a Jay Thorpe model to wear right now and for months to come. It is made of slate blue lightweight wool with rabbit's hair in the weave. The fitted jacket is innocent of buttons, tying on with three soft bows of self-material.

A ruffle of the material around the cut-away lower edge of the jacket further increases the general softness of the suit. The skirt is slim, but not narrow.

Prophet Baer As He Spake 20 Years Ago!

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Here are some amazing prophetic paragraphs written by myself 20 years ago in 1922 about the London conference:

The knees of our pacifists are quivering with patriotism. Under the treaty we will defend the Atlantic with prayers and the Pacific with curses.

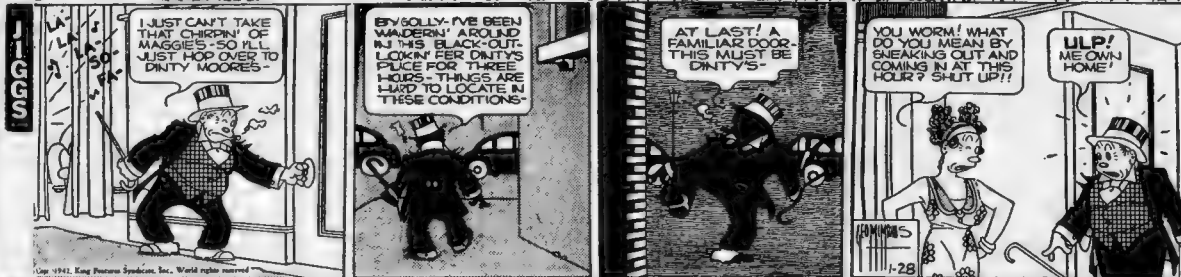

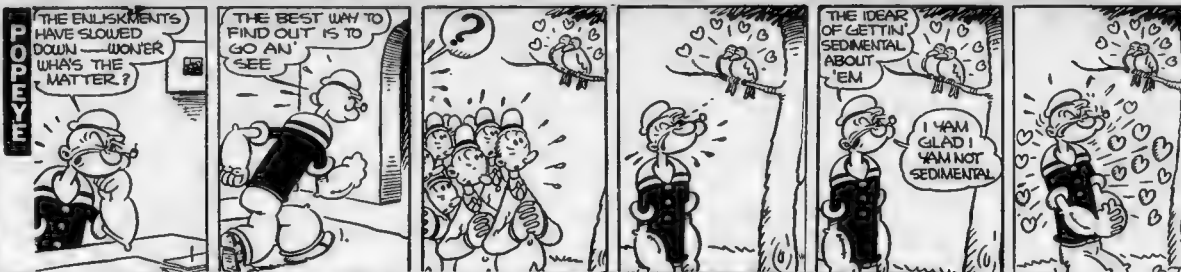

Our Navy will be a swan boat on the park lake, manned by fear and officered by stupidity.

When the hounds of war break out the next time we will be the dog biscuits.

The pacifists figure that without boats you cannot have a naval battle, but without brains you can still have headaches--April, 1922.

12 More Survivors Picked Up Off Virginia

LEWES, Del., Jan. 28 (INS)—Leaving three of her crew of 32 unaccounted for, an additional 12 members of the torpedoed tanker Francis E. Powell have been picked up in the Atlantic off Assateague, Va., the Coast Guard station at Lewes announced today.

One of the 12, the Coast Guard announcement said, is dead. His body and the 11 survivors are being taken to the Coast Guard station on Chincoteague Island, Va. Other details of the second phases of the rescue were not disclosed, but it was learned the survivors included the tanker's chief engineer, W. E. Chance, of Philadelphia.

Whether the seamen picked up included the ship's master, Capt. T. J. Harrington, was not revealed. It was known, however, that Harrington was not among the 17 men rescued by the tanker, W. C. Fairbanks.

Three of those rescued from the Francis E. Powell were brought ashore at Lewes in stretchers but were not seriously injured.

The Powell, a 7096-ton vessel owned by the Atlantic Refining Co., was blasted by a single torpedo before dawn Monday.

The U-boat that fired the deadly missile "surfaced" as one lifeboat pulled away from the sinking Powell, narrowly averting the still whirling blades of her propeller. The other life boat, carrying Capt. Harrington, capsized.

Three men from the captain's launch were picked up by the remaining life boat and it was feared the others perished.

John R. Patterson, 25-year-old seaman from Philadelphia, said the torpedo struck at 2:35 a. m.

"I grabbed a life preserver and got out on deck," Patterson said. "I headed for No. 4 boat on the port side aft with several others and on the way we picked up Cox (Kenneth G. Cox of Los Angeles) who had been knocked down by the explosion.

"Cox wasn't hurt, though," Patterson said 15 men were in the lifeboat but that one man whom could identify only as "Alexson" disappeared overboard.

Three men, including Willard S. King, the mate, were fished out of the water, Patterson said, after a huge wave had caught the captain's lifeboat and dumped it over.

In rescuing the trio the lifeboat swung under the stern, Patterson said, and was nearly wrecked by the churning propeller.

Louis N. Reno, quartermaster, took charge of the life boat and steered it to safety.

Patterson identified the two other men rescued from the captain's boat as Russell M. Harrington, seaman of Wilmington, N. C., and Simon O'Fano, messboy, of Philadelphia.

Harrington was one of those injured, suffering from a back injury. Chalmers Cameron of Risdon, Ark., and First Mate King were the two others injured. King's leg was hurt while Cameron had a foot injury.

It was seven hours before the tanker Fairbanks sighted the lifeboat and rescued the men.

30 DiMaggio, Mulcahy Share Hub Scribes' Spotlight

By HERB FINNEGAN

Baseball's No. 1 player, Joe DiMaggio, and Baseball's No. 1 soldier, Hugh Mulcahy, must share the spotlight with other celebrities tonight as the Boston Baseball Writers unfold their

EVERYBODY'S HAPPY—Meet the Carolina Newsomes as they looked this morning after seeing first major league hockey game at Garden. Senior Dick, wife Janet and Junior Dick were beaming because Bruins didn't lose. Senior Dick, incidentally, will receive "Rookie of Year" award at Baseball Writers' Dinner tonight. He won 19 games for Sox last year.

'RATHER DUCK LINE DRIVES!' SAYS NEWSOME OF HOCKEY

"They can have it," said Heber Dick Newsome to Trainer Win Green in the Bruins dressing room after Art Ross' proteges had tied Toronto before a full house at the Garden. The Red Sox "Rookie of the Year" pitcher was referring to hockey.

It was the first major league hockey game he had seen, and he was enthralled.

"Too rough," he smiled as he mingled among the Bruins. (Dick was one of the roughest basketball players ever to wear the colors of Wake Forest. He never had a skate on in his life.)

"Rather duck line drives," he commented.

Dick was kidding partly and partly in earnest. He saw Milt Schmidt have two stitches taken in his face in the first period, then return to the ice to play a major role during the rest of the game.

Ball players don't do that. They stay out for a week. But then ball players are working seven days a week while hockeyists play only

TOUGHER THAN CRONIN

Dick Newsome, his charming wife Janet (his schoolboy sweetheart) and All-America Dick, Jr., drove from their Abshire, N. C., home to Boston for the hockey game and tonight's presentation at the Baseball Writers' dinner.

A most happy young family are the Carolina Newsomes. Senior Dick is the apple of Junior Dick's eye, and vice versa.

Junior Dick is a handsome young chap, what with his Lord Fauntleroy collar and his long trousers. He was the cutest looking youngster we ever saw drop into the Copley Plaza.

"He's my severest critic," Dick senior beamed. "Joe Cronin never was half as tough on me as the kid. What a lacing he'd give me when I came home after losing a game last summer."

(The Newsome trio lived in Needham while Dick was pitching).

"He's just like a prize fight manager," Dick went on. "Whenever I lose one, I lose it; whenever I win one, I win it."

BIGGER THAN TEACHER

Young Dick, like every All-America kid, thinks his daddy is Joe DiMaggio and Ted Williams rolled into one. He's a handsome, bright-eyed boy.

"How did he get away from school?" we asked, noting that young Dick looked about eight years of age.

"Hasn't started yet," senior Dick replied. "He wasn't six until December, and the state (North Carolina) won't allow him to start until next September."

"But he's big enough to go hunting and fishing with me," he added. "In fact if he keeps growing he'll be bigger than the teacher when he starts."

sixth annual dinner-show at the Copley Plaza.

"Yankee Clipper" DiMaggio will be awarded the Paul H. Shannon Memorial Bowl for the season's outstanding baseball achievement, that of hitting safely in 56 successive games.

"Yankee Doodle" Mulcahy will receive similar recognition for blazing the major league trail into the armed forces of Uncle Sam.

The fact that Ted Williams will not be there in person to receive the Jacob C. Morse Trophy for being Boston's "Most Valuable Player of the Year," will not dull the evening's edge because there will be a galaxy of notables in attendance.

Old Jawn Evers will be there, and young Hughey Duffy. Heber "Dick" Newsome will be there, to receive a plaque for being acclaimed Boston's "Rookie of the Year."

SENATOR LODGE TO SPEAK

Lefty Gomez of the Yanks will be there, and the Braves' Tommy Holmes. Also, Bob Quinn of the Braves, Eddie Collins of the Sox and Ira Thomas of the A's.

There will be entertainment by Movie Star Pat O'Brien and Theatrical Star Lou Holtz. Also by 12-year-old songbird Timmy Rjordaa of Woburn. Speakers Warren Brown and Jimmy Conzelman will delight the gathering, too.

The mayor will be there, and the governor is expected. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge will deliver the keynote address.

All these and more will appear at the head table. The floor will be littered with ball players Jim Tabor, Ulysses Lupien, Eddie Pellagrini, Eddie Waitkus, Elbie Fletcher, Lennie Merullo, Barney Olsen, Bump Hadier, Irving Jack Burns, and others.

It will be a night certain to live long in the memory of those who attend. A full house has long been assured. The pity is that more youngsters like 12-year-old Sam Gwynne of Worcester cannot attend.

Young Sam, who has been shoveling snow to make his expenses, will be there in all his glory, and a committee has been appointed to see that he is introduced to every celebrity in the hall.

EVERS TO TELL ABOUT 1911

Chief regret of this writer is not the absence of Williams but of good old Hankus Pankus Gowdy.

It would have been quite a sight to see baseball's No. 1 soldier of World War No. 1 seated with Baseball's No. 1 soldier of World War No. 2. But Hank is a popular figure round his native Columbus, O., and Cincinnati, and previous commitments prevented him from coming.

So, too, was his 1911 teammate, Rabbit Maranville, whose naval duties will keep him away. But a third member of that old pennant winner, Johnny Evers, will regale the gathering of 209 with stories about Boston's only National League pennant winner of the century.

And just a word of thanks to the committee of Toastmaster Arthur Sampson, Gerry Moore and Joe Cashman for their works of work in rounding up such an imposing battery of speakers and entertainers.

Also a bow to Gerry Coughlin, that master of the parody, whose offerings tonight warrant a pedestal by themselves in Boston's own Hall of Fame.

BRUINS, TORONTO PLAY SCORELESS GAME³¹

FOILED—Syl Apps found Goalie Frankie Brimsek too tough to pass on this shot. Brimsek turned in his second perfect game of the season against the Toronto Leafs last night at the Garden. Des Smith (No. 8) and Eddie Wiseman (No. 7) followed Apps in on the play to get Brimsek's pass-out.

COWLEY MAY NEVER PLAY HOCKEY AGAIN; BRUINS TURN DOWN GAME WITH ALL-STARS

Bobby Bauer, Milt Schmidt and Woody Dumart will leave by plane for Montreal at 6:30 this evening to enlist in the Canadian Royal Air Corps . . . They'll rejoin the club in New York

Thursday and after playing in Toronto Saturday night return here for the Americans' and Blackhawks' games next week . . . According to Andy Lyttle, a Toronto scribe, it's customary for the Canadian authorities to extend leaves to the boys who enlist in the flying corps . . . He stated that it might be six weeks before the Krauts are called.

Manager Art Ross will take only 13 players to New York for Thursday's game . . . In the event that the Krauts are not allowed to report, the Bruins will be three players short . . . Bill Cowley has such a serious fracture that it is said that he may never play another game of hockey.

SECOND SHUTOUT

The Red Cross now admit that it pulled one of those things by refusing to permit the use of its name for the Bruins All-Star charity game . . . J. R. Hamlen, chairman of the Boston Metropolitan Chapter of the Red Cross visited Manager Art Ross and attempted to explain the cancellation . . . Now, he'd like to have the game played here but with the Krauts and Cowley out of the lineup, Manager Ross doesn't feel that the Bruins would give the public a run for its money playing an All-Star aggregation . . . However, if the Red Cross wishes to sponsor a game in another city and is able to get the N. H. L. to sanction the undertaking, the Bruins will contribute players.

Although his right eye was still discolored and his nose swollen, Frankie Brimsek was busy on the job and turned in a stellar performance . . . It was his second shutout of the season . . . Connie Smythe, who is now located at Petawawa, Ont., with his battery, will week-end in Toronto in order to attend the Eccleston Memorial and Bobby Bauer Night . . . Maj. Smythe signed Bobby to his (Bauer's) first professional contract . . . He was drafted by the Bruins while playing for Syracuse . . . Dick Newsome, the Red Sox pitcher, accompanied by Mrs. Newsome and Dick, Jr., watched the game from the first balcony . . . It was his first hockey game . . . He admires the courage of the players but for his own part, he wants nothing to do with hockey from a player's angle.

HEADED FOR AIR CORPS

Bob Goldham, who broke into the N. H. L. last night as a defenseman for the Maple Leafs, is rated as the greatest of all time Canadian schoolboy athletes . . . Although only 18 years of age and the youngest defenseman to crash the N. H. L. since Frank "King" Clancy made his debut with the old Ottawa Senators, Goldham has been the property of the Maple Leafs for three years . . . He was signed to a Toronto contract last spring and purchased a second-hand automobile with his advance money.

Goldham, whose home is in Georgetown, a Toronto suburb, played for the Marlboros a year ago, and this fall was sent to Hershey to be developed by Cooney Weiland . . . His father is a butcher and he's known as the "Butcher Boy" . . . He played junior lacrosse with Mimico, Ont., a year ago, and that team won the Dominion championship . . . He's rated as the best football player in the schoolboy ranks and also starred at basketball and track . . . He made so many teams in high school that he was barred during his senior year . . . Goldham showed last night that he's an exceptionally promising rookie defenseman . . . Frank Selke predicts that he'll develop into a star if he stays in the game, but feels certain that the youngster will enroll in the R. C. A. F. at the end of this season . . .

HERGESHEIMER REPORTS

Turk Broda kicked aside a ton of rubber during the first period and many of his saves were very sensational . . . During the first four minutes, he was called upon to make about as many saves of shots off his own team mates' sticks as from those of the Bruins.

Phil Hergesheimer, who was a member of the Bruins cubs of the Canadian-American League a few years ago, reported to Manager Art Ross of the Bruins yesterday. Falling to impress the Bruins during his first minor league tryout, Hergesheimer was sold to Cleveland, where he developed into a great goal getter. After two years with Cleveland, Hergesheimer was sold to the Chicago Blackhawks . . . For some reason, "Hergie" didn't fit into the Blackhawk picture and Manager Paul Thompson sold him to the Bruins, who were looking for protection, when they learned that the Kraut line had been called to the color.

BILL GRIMES.

Brimsek, Broda Stars Of Overtime Tie

By BILL GRIMES

The Bruins and the Maple Leafs divided the points last night at the Boston Garden before a capacity crowd of 14,500 in the first scoreless game played in the National Hockey League this season.

By virtue of the draw, the Bruins moved into a first place deadlock with the New York Rangers and the Maple Leafs increased their edge over the Chicago Blackhawks to three points.

Although there were flashes of good hockey, the game, on the whole, was one of the poorest exhibitions ever staged by the Bruins and the Leafs during the regular season. It had all the earmarks of a close covering playoff game and, but for some sensational work on the part of Frankie Brimsek and Walter "Turk" Broda, rival goalies, the contest would have been even more drab.

Both clubs had numerous scoring chances but failed to cash in.

Shortly after Broda had made a great save to prevent Stanowski, his own defenseman, from scoring for the Bruins early in the first period, Gordon Drillon got a break and had nobody to beat but Brimsek. Realizing that he had been left on his own, Brimsek came out beyond the red line and drove into the onrushing Drillon. It was a perfect play on Brimsek's part for if he had allowed Gordie to get in for a close-up shot, Frankie would have been beaten.

BUSHER GOAL DISALLOWED

During the ninth minute, Milt Schmidt was cut in a mixup with Goldham and required a couple of stitches to close the wound.

Just before the close of the period "Dutch" Hiller carried into Toronto territory, but his pass out was deflected and flew high into the air. "Busher" Jackson swung his stick high over his head and batted the puck into the cage but Referee Chadwick rightly refused to allow the goal.

In the fifth minute of the second period, Goldham drew a penalty for tripping Hiller, who had gone by him and was in for a shot on Broda. While Goldham was in the penalty box the Bruins put on a grand exhibition of power and clever team work. They managed to keep the puck in the Maple Leaf zone for almost two minutes.

MARIO INJURED

During the third period, both teams showed signs of tiring and the pace slowed down almost to a walk. Late in this chapter, Eddie Wiseman saved the ball game by a piece of clever back checking. Goldham got a break with Schirner with the Bruin defense down the ice. They went in but when the rookie made his pass, Wiseman checked Schirner just in time to break up the play.

In the overtime, Frankie Mario was injured slightly when he and Jack Crawford attempted to check Taylor, who slipped out of the pincher, and Mario took a terrific check from Crawford.

At the five minute mark of overtime, Hiller and Herbie Cain came very close to putting across a win for the Rosamens. Hiller carried the puck in and gave Cain a perfect pass. Herbie let fly and everyone in the Garden, with the single exception of "Turk" Broda, thought the check was in the net. Instead, the Bruin defense down the ice.

Hood Plans to Enter Army

I TALKED WITH Hubert Hood, CYO colored heavyweight from Chicago, as he waited to entrain for home after winning an All-America title in the finals at the Garden. Hood is five feet 11½ inches tall and weighs 185 pounds.

He is a light-hearted 20-year-old who laughs happily at his own jokes as well as those of his teammates. Hood is attending school in Chicago, and by the summer he will have joined Joe Louis in the Army.

"Now that I am an All-America champion," said Hood with a grin, "I am going to do a little fighting for Uncle Sam. I would like to be assigned to the same unit as Joe Louis. I could then learn a great deal working out with Joe."

"I might also get on some of the cards on which Louis will appear. Right now it looks as if Louis is going to defend his title against Billy Conn in New York in June. "What is my best punch?" A left hook to the body. That is the blow that enabled me to win from Al Reed in the final of the heavyweight class.

"Paddy Kane has taught me how to punch. Paddy has insisted that I punch short and carry through with my blows. This is what has enabled me to score so many knock-outs."

"I have been boxing for two years. I certainly got a thrill when I won the heavyweight title in the All-America tournament."

"I hope to come back to Boston for the A. A. U. championships in April. I would also like to win the A. A. U. heavyweight title before entering the army."

Lauds Boston Boxing

Paddy Kane, who had charge of the CYO boxers, lauded the way the amateur boxing game is conducted in this city.

"I thought the All-America tournament was one of the best ever held," said Kane. "I was glad that our CYO team from Chicago competed in it. We shall look forward to returning to Boston next year for your tournament."

"I knew something about the fine way in which amateur boxing was conducted in Boston as a result of my experience in coming to this city for A. A. U. championships. There is not any city in the United States where boxing is staged under better conditions than those established by Gene Driscoll, Herb Holm, Tom Kanaly, George Freeman and Frank Facey."

"Competition is one of the most important parts of amateur boxing. In the All-America tournament, the competition was keen."

"While in Boston, I have talked with many people about the methods adopted by the government to condition its service men. I am of the opinion that progress is being made in the right direction. I believe, though, that better results might be obtained if the Army and Navy did not insist that an applicant for a position as a physical director possess a degree."

"Men like the late William Muldoon, Al Lacey, Harry Kelley, Jack Blackburn, Bill Brown and others too numerous to mention never attended college. They were well schooled in their jobs, and had ability as leaders."

Favors Physical Drills

Ben Becker, who had charge of the Albany boxers in the All-America tournament, agreed there was much logic to Kane's remarks. Ben is physical director of the Albany schools and by June will have joined the Navy as a physical director.

"There are many first class conditioners of men who have learned their jobs the hard way," said Ben, "and they should receive every consideration in the awarding of commissions."

"I have talked physical training with Army and Navy men. In Albany, we are eager to see that our school children get the best possible training for the hard days that may be ahead."

"I favor a course in physical training for every boy in any school system. If we turn over our boys to the Army and Navy in the best of physical condition, the service units will not have to spend much time getting them ready for military service."

"Boys who are good athletes make good soldiers and sailors. American boys adapt themselves to new conditions quickly. Now that it is a question of war rather than sports you will find our athletes excelling in the new field."

Pittsburgh Boxers

Sheriff Haddock, in charge of the Pittsburgh boxers, was elated by the work of his team.

"Our boys did well under fire," said the Sheriff. "As a group, they are young and they will keep improving. I hope to have some of them back in Boston for the nationals in April."

Lee Refuses Third Contract

CHICAGO, Jan. 28 (INS)—Chicago White Sox Vice-President Harry Grabner refused to excite himself over the return of Thornton Lee's third contract.

The southpaw hurler, who won 22 games last season, had scrawled across the dotted line where it was hoped his signature would be, "not enough money."

At his home in Phoenix, Ariz., Lee said:

"There's not much difference in what I'm offered and what I'm asking. It's just that the time has come to collect for those 22 wins."

In addition to his 22-11 record, topping both leagues for a lefty, Lee led in earned run average.

Goodwill Effort Fails; Kentucky Hammers Mexico

LEXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 28 (AP)—Radiating Pan-American friendship, Kentucky's basketball coach, Adolph Rupp presented a dozen roses to Senora Teresa De Ochoa, wife of the University of Mexico's basketball coach, before the Kentucky-Mexico game here last weekend.

Distressed because Kentucky led 33-7 at the half, Rupp used every substitute. The Kentuckians even called their plays out loud, but failed to help their visitors. None could speak English. Kentucky won 56 to 26.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP)—Norwood Ewell of Penn State, who swept all the major sprint titles last year, and Bob Wright of Ohio State, owner of the four top hurdling titles of 1941, have entered the Millrose A. A. games at Madison Square Garden on Feb. 7.

2 GAMES AT MECHANICS

That Monk Maznicki, Mickey Connolly, Butch Kissell, Ed Zabalski, Freddie Naumetz, Henry Woronick and Bob Jauron are just as much at home on a basketball court as they were on the gridiron for Boston College will be demonstrated next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock when the Eagles clash with Ft. Devens in the first game of the basketball twin-bill for the President's Infantile Fund at Mechanics Building.

All these boys starred in basketball in their respective high schools, but they will be meeting players who were outstanding in college basketball in the Ft. Devens group of the Martins of Rhode Island State College, Elton Deuse and Joe Kwaniewski of Providence College, George Hanna of Dartmouth, Dud Clark of Duke and Bob Wood of Colgate.

Boston Good-Wins and the Harlem Yankees, two teams which never fail to put on a satisfactory exhibition of basketball, will provide one of the feature games

Soldier Never Played But He's 33 Top Court Coach

CAMP DAVIS, N. C., Jan. 28 (AP)—Private Richard Witkin has never played in a basketball game, but as a coach he's tops around here.

His coast artillery team has a clean slate of seven victories this season, some of them over colleges. He's not above taking the water bucket or a towel onto the floor, either, and he's usually the best rooter in the gymnasium.

On defense his players cover anybody they want to, and they tell their own plays. The system works.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Jan. 28 (AP)—The four seeded players survived the quarter-finals of the Atlantic Coast tournament at Haddon Hall.

Today Eleanor Sears, famed Boston athlete, will meet Mrs. Edward Beatty, Jr., in the semi-finals, and Hope Knowles, Philadelphia, will meet Helen Stone, New York, to determine which two shall contend for the championship later in the day.

Miss Sears, seeded fourth, was the only seeded player who had difficulty reaching the semi-finals. She defeated Mrs. Donald E. Wilbur, of Merion, Pa., in the first round, 15-13, 7-15, 16-5, and in the quarter-finals she beat Mrs. John Prizer, Philadelphia, 6-15, 15-9, 9-15, 18-15.

TOOK 4 YEARS FOR B. C.'S SULLY TO HIT TOP

Charlie Sullivan took four years to "arrive" but when the Boston College second line wing finally found himself he became an important member of the Eagle ice squad which at the moment is undefeated, and untied in six starts this season. B. C. plays Dartmouth at the Garden next Monday night.

"Sully" is from Melrose. That's probably the reason Coach John "Snooks" Kelley retained him during the three seasons in which Charlie was hardly an "important" member of the cast. Sullivan's points scored as a freshman, sophomore and junior didn't put him high among the squad scorers. However, the Melrose youth's deficiencies didn't bother him. He kept "swinging" as they say and his efforts have paid off big dividends this season.

Charlie was a major instrument in B. C.'s most recent 5 to 4 conquest over Colby. He scored the Eagles' first pair of goals. Without this effort it is doubtful B. C. would have been able to run its streak to 19 straight games.

Sullivan, though a resident of Melrose, attended Malden Catholic High School. He was a member of that school's independent hockey team which was forced to operate out of doors. As a result it had to depend on the weather for aid in running off its schedule.

"Sully" reports that King Winter wasn't very co-operative, so "Sully" secured little hockey experience.

His freshman days at B. C. saw him tasting his first real organized hockey. It took the lad four years to "arrive," but now that that's happened—opponents, beware.

Dartmouth Six Belts Yale

NEW HAVEN, Ct. Jan. 28 (AP)—Dartmouth's hockey superiority in the Pentagonal League was given added impetus here when the Indians defeated Yale, 6 to 4. Both teams were undefeated in league competition.

Jack Riley and Dick Rondeau between them pulled the hat trick on the Blue by scoring three goals each.

Two third liners tallied Yale's first period goals, Colley Burgwin and Jim Carlton matching the efforts of Riley, who bagged two for the Indians. Bill Wood gave Yale its third goal in the second period and it was Ben Toland who got the fourth, ably assisted by Capt. Ted Harrison. His name-sake, Bill Harrison from Walpole, Mass., also played some great hockey for the Indians, contributing five assists.

LAST CHECKUP—Big Blond Al Yourkewicz, Olympics' right defenseman, gives his blades the last once over. The Brockton 200-pounder will be making his final home appearance as an Olympic tonight at the Garden against the New York Rovers. He will be inducted into the U. S. Army Feb. 3.

'Yourky' Plays Last for Pics; Army Next Stop

Big Blond Al Yourkewicz, Brockton's contribution to hockey, will bid farewell to Olympics' fans tonight at the Garden when the Boston Olympics take on the fast-topping New York Rovers in an Eastern Amateur League contest.

The Shoe City athlete, a burly defenseman who teams with equally as big Al Baranowski, will be participating in his final Olympics' game on home ice, for, on Feb. 3, he will be inducted into the U. S. Army. Although it is Al's last home showing, he will continue to play with the team on the road until Feb. 1.

The highlight of the evening will be a farewell program arranged in honor of Yourky. A large number of his friends from the Fore River ship yards where Al has been working, will present him with a gift. Walter Brown will likewise make a presentation. Prior to the Olympics-Rovers game, the Junior Olympics will face the Mt. Hood Hockey club from Melrose. Chief interest in this preliminary tussle centers around the presence of Paul Guilford, former Olympic who retired from the game last year but keeps in trim by playing occasionally with the Melrose outfit.

The Olympics will be without the services of Dan Sullivan, their third line ace. The former Dartmouth athlete has acquired three major penalties and, according to the league rules, must sit out one contest. Filling in for Sully will be the veteran Junior Stubbs.

WILLIAMSON YALE'S NEW GRID COACH

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP)—The New York Herald-Tribune said last night that Ivan B. Williamson, assistant football coach at Yale the last eight years, had been named head coach at the New Haven school.

The paper said the announcement of the former Michigan end's appointment would be delayed until he selected his assistants. Emerson W. (Spike) Nelson, former University of Iowa lineman and the first non-graduate coach in Yale history, resigned late in December to accept a position with the U. S. Engineer Corps in Philadelphia. Nelson was at Yale but one year, his team losing all games except the opener with Virginia.

SONNENBERG SLIGHT CHOICE OVER DIABLO

Gus Sonnenberg will rule a slight favorite to down El Diablo, mysterious grappler in the green mask, when they meet tonight in the main event of Paul Bowser's weekly tournament at the Arena.

The odds will be on Sonny, because of the way he butted El Diablo all over the Arena last week, finally landing the unknown among the ring-side seats, which brought a sudden end to the bout. El Diablo, who never had much to do with the tackle, decided then and there that the weapon was illegal, and he paraded to his dressing room and refused to continue. He was disqualified.

Since then El Diablo has learned that the tackle is as legal as any hold in wrestling. On signing for a return match he devoted his time toward developing a defense for it. He thinks he has one now.

Sonny's comeback last week was notable. He had been claiming he was feeling great and aching to get going in fast company again. If Gus can ruin a few more foes with the tackle he will be definite title timber again.

War to Make Big Changes in Baseball

THE INDUSTRY of baseball, which has been about as progressive as the buggy whip trade for years, will be jolted into a dozen drastic changes during the coming season.

The lid is certain to be knocked off night baseball in the big leagues on Feb. 3, when the owners meet in New York.

Rail fares will be 15 per cent higher this year, and that is going to mean that several teams which have barely remained out of the red will flop in with a loud splash, and join such public charges as the Phillies, Browns, etc.

Before the year is out we're going to see big league games start at twilight in those parks which do not have lighting facilities—the Yankee Stadium, Fenway Park, Braves Field, Briggs Stadium, and Wrigley Field. We're going to see games postponed or cancelled because teams couldn't get passage on rails choked with defense work. We're going to see more clubs take to the air.

The players caught in the draft and those who enlist will make up only a tiny proportion of the number of minor leaguers who will quit baseball to take jobs in defense industries which provide better wages. Baseball scouts will be forced to change lifetime habits and look first at a rookie's Selective Service status, instead of at his "action." Minor league clubs which travel by bus will have trouble wheeling time.

We're going to see more old players and more very young ones, and fewer players in their primes. We're going to see a change in the ball, and, because of that change, a revival of the "hit 'em where they ain't" school. We're not going to read many more stories this spring about adamant holdouts.

Elaborating on the above: Some of the owners who hugged themselves with joy when the President patted baseball on its skull, will do their best to block Mr. Big's call for more night games. That may seem paradoxical, inasmuch as night games draw more persons than day games. But most of the men in baseball today are old fashioned. They grew up with the sport. They know it only as a day-time game and have a horror of innovation. They're afraid that if the public tires of night ball, as

HEARST SHOOT SURET SE NEW RECORD

As the deadline nears for the William Randolph Hearst Citizen Marksmanship competition, there is every indication that the number of teams entered will hit a new high.

Every New England state will be very well represented except for Connecticut when the entries close Friday at midnight.

Immediately after entries close, the New England board for Hearst shoot which has Capt. Louis E. Lutz as chairman together with Col. Nathaniel C. Nash, Jr., president of the National Rifle Association, Fred Lambert, former N. E. and Eastern Rifle Association president and Jack Conway, sports director of the Hearst newspapers in New England, will classify the teams into leagues.

Wherever possible the leagues will be arranged to permit shoulder to shoulder competition. If the distances are too great, postal leagues will be formed.

This year the need for leagues will be much lighter than it was last year, due to the organization of leagues within clubs. Any organization with 16 gunners can enter 4 four-man teams and shoot in competition against each other for the right to enter the Hearst final next spring.

In answer to questions regarding the number of men there must be on a team in league competition, this is a point for the clubs to settle between themselves. In the Hearst shoot there must be four-man teams, but in league contests it is entirely up to the organization.

HITLER DESECRATES SABBATH

day when Hitler unleased upon London the greatest air attack in history — an attack aimed to bring complete destruction to the city, and complete subjection to its people. More than 700 planes swooped down upon the defenseless areas. But although the planes brought widespread death, they failed to bring the desired destruction. There were at least 350 planes shot down by valiant Royal Air Force defenders.

On Sunday, Sept. 15, 1940, Hitler's planes again attacked London by air, one of them scoring a deliberate hit on Buckingham Palace. Again, death rained from the sky. But again the German planes were beaten down—and beaten back.

On Sunday, Sept. 22 of the same year, the Italians by order of Hitler raided Haifa. An ancient mosque was destroyed, and 40 Arabs were shipping there were killed.

On Sunday, Oct. 27, 1940, Italy invaded Greece.

On Sunday, June 22, 1941, Germany invaded Yugoslavia and Greece. And on a Sunday in the following month, parachutists floated down upon Crete.

There were two Sunday invasions to come, however, which were to prove unfortunate dates for the sun-god who had chosen Sunday as his lucky day.

There was the Sunday when Germany invaded Russia. And there was the Sunday when the Japs attacked Pearl Harbor. Adolf Hitler, victor of the Sabbath, was to learn his mistake.

(Hitler persecutes Christians and Jews alike, but he is secretly afraid of the power of faith. Continue the story of his persecutions in tomorrow's Boston American.)
